Dominican Rebels Warn Yanks To Observe Border

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The leader of the Dominican rebels says any U.S. troops entering the rebel zone will be fired on as violators of the cease-fire agreement negotiated by an Organization of American States peace commission.

Col. Francisco Caamano Deno said his men captured one U.S. Marine Wednesday when an American jeep blundered into the rebel sector of Santo Domingo. Heavy firing broke out, and Caamano said the other three American servicemen in the jeep fled on foot. He said one was wounded.

A U.S. official said the patrol took a wrong turn and entered the rebel zone by mistake.

American officials announced that four U.S. servicemen were wounded Wednesday in other firing in Santo Domingo. This brought the total of American casualties in the Dominican crisis to 6 dead, 1 missing and 56 wounded.

Caamano warned earlier that the U.S. forces could bring on "a massacre" by moving into the insurgents' zone.

A U.S. spokesman replied: "We have sent word to Caamano that we reserve the right to effect any moves necessary in the implementation of our mission in the Dominican Republic."

Caamano, sworn in as "provisional president" by the rebels on Tuesday, sent requests to foreign governments for diplomatic recognition. The United States announced, however, that it believed "there is no effective (Dominican) government at the present time."

A U.S. spokesman here charged Wednesday night that Caamano is "moving closer to the Communists." The official said the "evaluation as of today is that the rebel movement is Communist-controlled."

Rebel-held Radio Santo Domingo returned to the air urging the people to return to work.

Electricity and water were restored to most of the city. Many shops began reopening.

American forces continued to distribute food along the east-west corridor leading from the international zone to the Ozama River. Anthony Solomon, State Department official sent here to supervise emergency relief operations, said 250 to 350 tons of food is being given out daily to Dominican nationals, regardless of political affiliation.

Jets Rip Red Ammo Dump; Success Hailed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force jets smashed a North Vietnamese ammunition complex today and claimed "spectacular results." A spokesman said four underground ammunition bunkers blew up after direct hits and four others were left burning.

On the political front, South Viet Nam's Armed Forces Council dissolved itself, ending 18 months of military control of the civilian government. The development strengthened Premier Phan Huy Quat's hand.

A task force of transport planes continued to shuttle the 3,500 men of the U.S. Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade from Okinawa to South Viet Nam. Reports circulated that the landing of another large group of U.S. Marines was imminent.

In the raid north across the 17th Parallel, 25 F105 jet fighters dumped 80 tons of bombs on the Phu Van ammunition complex, 125 miles southwest of Hanoi.

A U.S. military spokesman said towering black clouds of smoke were rising from the area as the jet pilots broke off their 45-minute attack. All returned home safely.

Flying in the first day of perfect weather in almost a week, the Air Force pilots hit the eight ammunition bunkers and also destroyed five out of six buildings in the complex.

Liquor Aide's Widow Files Counterclaim

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — The widow of a state liquor agent who was slain at a party last year has filed a counterclaim for $100,000 from the estate of a second man shot to death at the same time.

Robert A. O'Neil, executor of the estate of James Burns of Akron, the agent, filed the action Wednesday for Burns' widow and three children.

The action is a cross-petition in a $100,000 damage suit filed April 23 against Burns' estate by Mrs. Barbara Young, whose husband, Rudolph, also died in the shooting at a party last Nov. 7.

Mrs. Burns' claim alleges that Young was shot to death with Burns' pistol during a scuffle. A Xenia patrolman called to the scene then shot and killed Burns.

Too Many Legislative Aides Said on Payroll

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — State Rep. Robert Breslin Jr. has filed a bill to limit the number of doorkeepers and pages in the Rhode Island Legislature.

At present there are 126 law-makers, and 78 doorkeepers and 95 pages. The Senate chamber has five doors and the House six.

Breslin's measure, introduced Wednesday, would limit the number to 13 doorkeepers and 21 pages at an estimated saving of $61,800 in salaries at each session.

Dr. Sam's Lawyer Expects Case To Go to Supreme Court Again

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Attorney F. Lee Bailey, determined to keep Dr. Sam Sheppard out of Ohio Penitentiary, thinks the case will end up in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Bailey planned to arrive here today from Boston and confer immediately with Sheppard, then with two attorneys helping him on the case.

Sheppard's long fight for permanent freedom was set back when the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati Wednesday ordered him back to prison. The vote was 2-1.

"I was somewhat surprised," Bailey said in Boston. "I thought one of the judges might go against us, but never two. I think there is a chance for a rehearing."

Bailey said "The case has got to end up in the U.S. Supreme Court." I will file a notice of appeal in the next 20 days, and this should stay execution of the order to return Sam to the penitentiary."

Sheppard was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1954 for the bludgeoning slaying of his first wife, Marilyn, at their suburban

Bay Village home along Lake Erie. He was released last July after 10 years when U.S. District Judge Carl Weinman ruled he had not received a fair trial because of the publicity the case received.

The state appealed Judge Weinman's ruling.

Bailey has 20 days to seek a stay of execution and file an appeal with the U.S. Supreme Court. If the stay is approved, the District Court could set an appeal bond for Sheppard, which would keep him out of prison until the Supreme Court decides on the new appeal.

Sheppard lives with his second wife, former German divorcee Ariane Tebbenjohanns, in suburban Rocky River. When informed of Wednesday's decision, he said: "I was terribly disappointed. All our hopes now lie with the U.S. Supreme Court."

Sheppard, 41, a former osteopath, married Ariane in Chicago two days after his release from prison.

If Sheppard is returned to prison, he'll be eligible for parole in two months, according to Ohio Penitentiary officials.

Arms Fund Bill OK Awaited

Senate Expected To Give Nod

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate moves today toward sweeping passage of a $700-million arms fund bill that in President Johnson's view will constitute a vote of confidence in his Viet Nam policies.

The measure whizzed through the House Wednesday. Passage on a 408-7 vote came after less than two hours' debate.

In a special message to Capitol Hill on Tuesday, Johnson asked Congress "to appropriate at the earliest possible moment an additional $700 million to meet mounting military requirements in Viet Nam."

He told the Senate and House he was asking "for prompt support of our basic course: Resistance to aggression, moderation in the use of power and a constant search for peace."

"Nothing will do more to strengthen your country in the world than the proof of national unity which an overwhelming vote for this appropriation will clearly show. To deny and delay this means to deny and to delay the fullest support of the American people and the American Congress to those brave men who are risking their lives for freedom in Viet Nam."

Wednesday, Speaker John W. McCormack said House passage of the military money bill "is an indication to the whole world that the people are behind our President, not a Democratic or Republican President, but our President."

Seven House Democrats voted against the bill. They were Reps. George E. Brown Jr., Philip Burton and Don Edwards of California; John Conyers Jr. of Michigan; John G. Dow and William F. Ryan of New York; and Edith Green of Oregon.

In requesting the $700 million, Johnson told Congress, "I cannot guarantee this will be the last request." The Defense Department budget already is running around $50 billion a year. The additional money will be used for ammunition, replacement of lost aircraft, maintenance of plans and construction of warehouses and oil storage facilities.

State Patrolman Gets High Award

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cpl. Gale R. Compton, 38, of the St. Marys Post of the Ohio Highway Patrol, received the O. W. Merrell Meritorious Service Award today for his rescue of two small children from a flaming house near St. Marys March 6, 1964.

The award was presented by O. W. (Whitey) Merrell, the sponsor who was director of the Ohio Department of Highways when the patrol was established in that department in 1933.

Compton rescued Leo McElroy, 12, and his brother, Danny, 8 months, when they were trapped in the flame and smoke-filled house at Villa Nova.

Land Acquisition Begins For Deer Creek Reservoir

Actual acquisition of land for the proposed Deer Creek Reservoir in western Pickaway County is under way.

Pickaway County Recorder Hazel Yeatts said initial real estate transfers from property owners involved to the United States government were recorded yesterday afternoon.

The real estate transfers involve 165.48 acres in Perry Twp. as well as an easement there.

The largest tract of land was the property of Ercell and Beulah Speakman. It totaled 148.26 acres.

TWO TRACTS totaling 7.81 acres belonging to Delbert and Deloris M. Bush were also acquired by the government as were 3.91 acres belonging to Flossie Roberts and Thomas Hammond and 5.50 acres belonging to Irvin F. and Agnes Yeoman.

The government also acquired the easement from the Yeomans.

WORD from the Internal Revenue Service today notes that taxpayers here affected by losses from last month's tornadoes may take advantage of special provisions of the tax law applying to casualty losses.

Affected taxpayers may elect to deduct a casualty loss on their 1964 income tax returns, according to Paul A. Schuster, director of the Southern Ohio District IRS. Since taxpayers have already filed regular returns, they may file an amended return on or before July 15.

Amended returns should be clearly marked "amended," and taxpayers who have already received a refund should take this into consideration when calculating their new tax liability.

Schuster stressed that under the law, deductions for non-business casualty losses are limited to the amount over $100.

Ohio Cattle Buyer Mysteriously Slain

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Police pressed a hunt for the killer of a well-known Ohio cattle buyer today after he stumbled bleeding and wrapped only in a sheet from a motel room here Wednesday with a puncture wound in his heart.

A few minutes later, Dale W. Homer, a 285-pound bachelor with offices at Mechanicsburg, Ohio, and a residence in Wisconsin, was dead. His automobile, which police regard as a key clue, was missing.

He was reported to have come here to visit a sister.

Rights Voting Showdown Due

Dixiecrats Seek To Extract Teeth

WASHINGTON (AP) — A showdown loomed in the Senate today on a Southern effort to pull some teeth from the voting rights bill.

Scheduled for a vote is a move by Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., to strike provisions that would automatically authorize federal registration of voters in much of the South.

Instead, federal courts would authorize appointment of federal registrars — but only in a specific area and only after the government proved Negroes were encountering discrimination in trying to vote.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen had announced plans to try to end debate on the bill when the Senate agreed unanimously Wednesday to vote on Ervin's key amendment.

Another test of the measure is scheduled Monday — a vote on an effort to include an outright ban on state poll taxes.

All this indicates the senators may have read the Mansfield-Dirksen cloture tactic as a warning to stop talking and start voting.

Over on the House side, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said his Judiciary Committee hopes to complete its consideration of the bill Friday.

Ervin, a former judge, and other Southern senators characterize as unconstitutional the automatic federal registration and automatic suspension of state literacy tests.

His amendment would continue state authority over voter qualifications.

The ban on poll taxes has the backing of 39 senators, five of them Republicans. But Mansfield and Dirksen are not among them. Instead they have proposed a plan that points to a Supreme Court ruling on state poll taxes.

U.S. To Join Dominican Patrol Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Organization of American States made a historic break from tradition early today and voted to establish an inter-American military force in the Dominican Republic.

The force will include some of the approximately 20,000 U.S. Marines and paratroopers already patrolling the Dominican capital of Santo Domingo.

As other nations contribute to the joint force, part of the U.S. contingent will be withdrawn. Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to the OAS, told the American nations. He said he was speaking on the authorization of President Johnson, who had been urging since last week that an inter-American military force be set up in the riot-torn Caribbean republic.

Paraguay and Venezuela announced they were ready to contribute military units to the new force. Costa Rica, which has no regular army, offered police units. Argentina and Brazil, it was indicated, also are considering sending military forces.

There was no indication on the total forces the other hemisphere nations might contribute, nor the date of their probable arrival in the Dominican Republic.

The vote was a departure from the OAS tradition of non-intervention in the Western Hemisphere. Never before had such a joint force of American nations been created formally to go into a country beset by internal turmoil, although various nations contributed military assistance during the Cuban missile crisis in the fall of 1962.

The purpose of the joint force, the OAS declared, is to establish "a climate of peace and conciliation permitting the functioning of democratic institutions" in the Dominican Republic.

The OAS action came on the heels of these U.S.-Dominican developments:

—U.S. government sources made public a list of 58 alleged Communists and Castroites who it said were involved in the Communist bid to take control of the Dominican Republic.

New Agency Tied To Appalachia

CINCINNATI (AP) — A new agency to assist in the growth of Appalachia, the Office of Appalachian Studies, has been established in Cincinnati by the Army's Corps of Engineers.

Col. John C. H. Lee Jr. was named Wednesday as head of the agency which will undertake a comprehensive study of the water and related land resources and prepare a plan for putting these resources to work in stimulating economic growth in the region.

"On the basis of our surveys and studies there will be recommendations by our office of possible $500,000,000 to a billion dollars worth of construction," Lee said.

Dixie Chieftains Freed

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Former Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett — and his successor, Paul B. Johnson, the current chief executive of the Deep South state — have been freed of criminal contempt stemming from their attempts to keep a Negro from enrolling at the University of Mississippi.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, in a 4-3 decision announced Wednesday, dropped the charges, which grew out of the 1962 integration of Ole Miss by James H. Meredith.

"No sufficient reasons exist for further prosecution of the proceedings," said the 3½-page majority opinion of Judges Richard Rives of Montgomery, Ala.; Warren Jones of Jacksonville, Fla.; Walter P. Griffin of Tuscaloosa, Ala.; and Griffin B. Bell of Atlanta, Ga.

"We are doubtful, to say the least, whether we and the other judges may not have formed a fixed opinion that" Johnson and Barnett are guilty, the majority said.

Barnett was governor at the time; Johnson was lieutenant governor.

They asked for a jury trial. The appeals court, divided 4-4, asked the U.S. Supreme Court to decide the issue. The Supreme Court said no jury, and told the appellate judges to proceed.

The three dissenting judges took 19½ pages to say why they opposed dropping the contempt action.

Judge John Minor Wisdom of New Orleans, in his dissent, called Barnett "the man in high office who defied the nation" and "struck a blow against American federalism."

Barnett, now practicing law at Jackson, Miss., declined to comment on the ruling.

Johnson's office said he was out of the state.

When Meredith arrived at Ole Miss on Sunday, Sept. 30, 1962, a riot broke out. By dawn the next day, two men were dead and several hundred injured. The Army—23,000 strong—moved in and Meredith was officially enrolled.

Before Meredith's admission, the appeals court held Barnett and Johnson guilty of civil contempt. The civil contempt case was also ordered formally terminated Wednesday.

The criminal contempt charges were filed at the request of the appeals court itself on Nov. 16, 1962, by the Justice Department.

Latins Rap U.S. Action

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Six thousand students denouncing U.S. action in the Dominican Republic hurled fire bombs at police outside the Argentine Congress Wednesday night in an hour-long battle that left at least 13 injured.

Demonstrations also flared in Venezuela, Colombia, Peru and Chile.

Most of the Argentine demonstrators were leftist students, but police said Communists joined in and touched off the violence.

Chanting anti-Yankee slogans, the mob hurled incendiary bombs and rocks at mounted police, smashed shop windows and set chairs and tables ablaze in sidewalk cafes.

One report said the rioters wrecked 10 cars including the limousine of Vice President Carlos Perette, en route from the Senate to his residence in the Savoy Hotel. Demonstrators also smashed in the Savoy's glass front.

Federal Police Chief Nicolas Rodriguez said the students had been given permission to demonstrate, but that Communists set off the violence.

Police moved in with pressure hoses and blanketed the area outside the Congress with tear gas.

A group of congressmen from the pro-Peron Justicialist party condemned the visit of W. Averill Harriman, President Johnson's envoy touring Latin America to explain the U.S. action in the Dominican Republic.

Harriman went on to Uruguay Wednesday night. He told newsmen that Communists are trying to touch off a hemisphere war through strife in six Latin American countries—Venezuela, Colombia, Haiti, Paraguay, Honduras and Guatemala.

In Caracas, Venezuela, terrorists sprayed the U.S. Embassy with machine-gun fire, narrowly missing several staff members. The bullets broke 17 windows but no one was injured.

An embassy spokesman said two men and a woman opened fire from about a block away, then fled in a taxi before embassy guards had a chance to return the fire.

In Santiago, Chile, hundreds of university students demonstrated in front of the U.S. Consulate. Three policemen were injured by rocks, and four youths were arrested.

Students Protest, Burn Draft Cards

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Forty University of California students burned their draft cards in front of the Berkeley Draft Board Wednesday in protest of "the invasion of the Dominican Republic."

While Berkeley police photographers snapped their photos the students squatted in a huddle like a football team and placed their burning cards in a small pile.

Hundreds of students marched on the draft board after a noon rally at the UC Berkeley campus at which student and faculty members assailed the United States move into the Dominican Republic.

Carpet Is Rolled Out For Burglar Suspect

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Police rolled out the carpet to catch a burglary suspect.

After receiving word Wednesday of a burglary, two officers chased a man from the second floor into the attic of a house. When they entered, the attic was empty except for a dusty carpet rolled up in a corner.

Detecting a bulge in the rug, the officers unrolled it. The bulge, police said, was Donald Wilson, 19. He was charged with breaking and entering.

Dixiecrats Seek To Extract Teeth

WASHINGTON (AP) — A showdown loomed in the Senate today on a Southern effort to pull some teeth from the voting rights bill.

Scheduled for a vote is a move by Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., to strike provisions that would automatically authorize federal registration of voters in much of the South.

Instead, federal courts would authorize appointment of federal registrars — but only in a specific area and only after the government proved Negroes were encountering discrimination in trying to vote.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen had announced plans to try to end debate on the bill when the Senate agreed unanimously Wednesday to vote on Ervin's key amendment.

Another test of the measure is scheduled Monday — a vote on an effort to include an outright ban on state poll taxes.

All this indicates the senators may have clare the Mansfield-Dirksen closure tactic as a warning to stop talking and start voting.

Over on the House side, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said his Judiciary Committee hopes to complete its consideration of the bill Friday.

Ervin, a former judge, and other Southern senators characterize as unconstitutional the automatic federal registration and automatic suspension of state literacy tests.

His amendment would continue state authority over voter qualifications.

The ban on poll taxes has the backing of 39 senators, five of them Republicans. But Mansfield and Dirksen are not among them. Instead they have proposed a plan that points to a Supreme Court ruling on state poll taxes.

Spanish Crash Probed

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands (AP) — Consuls and officials of six nations are seeking to identify 31 persons killed Wednesday in the crash of a Spanish airliner. Aeronautical experts tried to determine the cause of the accident.

U.S. To Join Dominican Patrol Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Organization of American States made a historic break from tradition early today and voted to establish an inter-American military force in the Dominican Republic.

The force will include some of the approximately 20,000 U.S. Marines and paratroopers already patrolling the Dominican capital of Santo Domingo.

As other nations contribute to the joint force, part of the U.S. contingent will be withdrawn.

Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to the OAS, told the American nations. He said he was speaking on the authorization of President Johnson, who had been urging since last week that an inter-American military force be set up in the riot-torn Caribbean republic.

Paraguay and Venezuela announced they were ready to contribute military units to the new force. Costa Rica, which has no regular army, offered police units. Argentina and Brazil, it was indicated, also are considering sending military forces.

There was no indication on the total forces the other hemisphere nations might contribute, nor the date of their probable arrival in the Dominican Republic.

The vote was a departure from the OAS tradition of non-intervention in the Western Hemisphere. Never before had such a joint force of American nations been created formally to go into a country beset by internal turmoil, although various nations contributed military assistance during the Cuban missile crisis in the fall of 1962.

The purpose of the joint force, the OAS declared, is to establish "a climate of peace and conciliation permitting the functioning of democratic institutions" in the Dominican Republic.

The OAS action came on the heels of these U.S.-Dominican developments:

—U.S. government sources made public a list of 58 alleged Communists and Catholics who it said were involved in the Communist bid to take control of the Dominican Republic.

New Agency Tied To Appalachia

CINCINNATI (AP) — A new agency to assist in the growth of Appalachia, the Office of Appalachian Studies, has been established in Cincinnati by the Army's Corps of Engineers.

Col. John C. H. Lee Jr. was named Wednesday as head of the agency which will undertake a comprehensive study of the water and related land resources and prepare a plan for putting these resources to work in stimulating economic growth in the region.

"On the basis of our surveys and studies there will be recommendations by our office of possible $500,000,000 to a billion dollars worth of construction," Lee said.

Latins Rap U.S. Action

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Six thousand students denouncing U.S. action in the Dominican Republic hurled fire bombs at police outside the Argentine Congress Wednesday night in an hour-long battle that left at least 13 injured.

Demonstrations also flared in Venezuela, Colombia, Peru and Chile.

Most of the Argentine demonstrators were leftist students, but police said Communists joined in and touched off the violence.

Chanting anti-Yankee slogans, the mob hurled incendiary bombs and rocks at mounted police, smashed shop windows and set chairs and tables ablaze in sidewalk cafes.

One report said the rioters wrecked 10 cars including the limousine of Vice President Carlos Perete, en route from the Senate to his residence in the Savoy Hotel. Demonstrators also smashed in the Savoy's glass front.

Federal Police Chief Nicolas Rodriguez said the students had been given permission to demonstrate, but that Communists set off the violence.

Police moved in with pressure hoses and blanketed the area outside the Congress with tear gas.

A group of congressmen from the pro-Peron Justicialist party condemned the visit of W. Averill Harriman, President Johnson's envoy touring Latin America to explain the U.S. action in the Dominican Republic.

Harriman went on to Uruguay Wednesday night. He told newsmen that Communists are trying to touch off a hemisphere war through strife in six Latin American countries—Venezuela, Colombia, Haiti, Paraguay, Honduras and Guatemala.

In Caracas, Venezuela, terrorists sprayed the U.S. Embassy with machine-gun fire, narrowly missing several staff members. The bullets broke 17 windows but no one was injured.

An embassy spokesman said two men and a woman opened fire from about a block away, then fled in a taxi before embassy guards had a chance to return the fire.

In Santiago, Chile, hundreds of university students demonstrated in front of the U.S. Consulate. Three policemen were injured by rocks, and four youths were arrested.

Tax Increase For Education Said Doomed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The House Taxation Committee was expected to deal a near fatal blow today to the school lobby's initiated bill to boost the state sales tax to raise more money for public schools.

The embattled measure was up for a vote before the Republican-dominated group which received it after several stormy hearings by the Education Committee.

Criticism of the so-called "PEP" (Program for Educational Progress) bill has been light although the GOP administration, which has a school foundation bill of its own, is pledged to no new or increased taxes.

Rep. Walter L. White, R-Ala., is chairman of the Taxation Committee, which includes 13 Republicans and 10 Democrats.

The committee was expected to strike taxation provisions, which in all probability would kill the measure.

Ten statewide educational groups circulated petitions to place the program before the legislature. A boost from three to four per cent in the sales tax would raise an additional $116 million a year to pay for it, they said.

Representatives of the school groups said at Education Committee hearings they do not insist that the EP program be paid for by a sales tax boost. But they described their plan for improved programs and services as being the minimum needed to meet Ohio's educational needs.

There was plenty of election talk in both houses Wednesday as the lawmakers evaluated Tuesday's defeat of the reapportionment amendment.

The defeat means that the legislature will have to try again to devise a plan to reshape House districts in line with the U. S. Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" edict.

Several bills were passed Wednesday as the legislature reached the midway point in its 16th week of work.

The House voted 101-26 to set up a new state agency to oversee Ohio's booming oil and gas industry, and 112-5 for a measure by Rep. Walter Powell, R-Butler, to permit school boards to purchase and lease motor vehicles.

Also approved were measures permitting county commissioners to waive competitive bidding for repairs of county buildings 50 years old or older and set compensation of $5 a meeting and allow traveling expense of 10 cents a mile for members of vocational school district boards.

Ohio's Board of Architect Examiners would be given additional authority under a bill passed by the Senate, 28-1. Sen. Max Dennis, R-Wilmington, said the measure, among other things, would allow the board to reject license applications on grounds other than state architect examinations.

Baseball Blamed For Eye Injury

John Fuller, 37, of 168 Montclair Ave., was treated in the emergency room at Berger Hospital yesterday for a laceration above his right eye. He was struck by a baseball at home.

Also receiving care was Jimmy Roundhouse, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roundhouse, 104 Parkview Ave. He fell on concrete steps and lacerated his forehead.

Both were released.

1,900 Cans of Beer Grabbed by Passersby

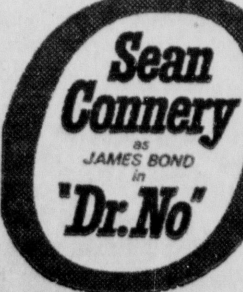

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A trailer truck's load shifted at a slight downgrade and 1,900 cans of beer spilled onto the intersection.

Before the driver could stop, motorists and pedestrians scooped up all the beer and fled. "I thought they were going to help salvage the load," Edmund Vandercaster Jr., said Wednesday, "but by the time I got the truck out of the line of traffic, there was nothing left to salvage."

Mrs. Ruth Notestone, Mrs. Jean Mills, Mrs. Ann Pollum and William Wilkams have been offered one year contracts to teach in Logan Elm School System.

ONLY two teaching vacancies exist in the Logan Elm District. Both are in the high school. Applications are being accepted for a football coach with a social studies major and for the position of guidance counselor - teacher.

Procedure for purchasing custodial supplies was reviewed and will remain the same as last year on a bid basis. The purchasing of other items such as bottle gas, fuel oil, coal and tires will remain in the hands of the same dealers that provided service during this past school year.

All board members agreed on establishing a driver education course at the high school. Due to limited operating funds, only two sections will be offered.

Plans to revise the music program for the elementary schools, with the intention of strengthening the music program and relieving the principals part time, were studied and discussed.

Stock Mart Chalks Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market clung to a small gain early this afternoon in active trading.

The list was pushing into record high ground for the fifth straight session, but seemed to have trouble holding its gains as the session wore on.

A parade of large blocks again boosted the volume total and, if the pace continued, it would probably be another six-million-share day.

Investment buying combined with speculative purchases to give the market a well-balanced look, but there was very little in the way of group leadership.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 344.2, with industrials up .9, rails up .2 and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .40 at 932.62—down from a gain of .95 in the morning.

Two Army helicopter crewmen were hit during a government operation near Da Nang airbase, and an Air Force enlisted man was slightly wounded during a mission to apply defoliation spray along a road. All three were released after treatment.

The spokesman said Viet Cong guerrilla attacks in South Viet Nam continue to increase and "a rather substantial number were reported in the 24 hours ending Thursday morning."

Five Viet Cong attacks were reported Wednesday, with three ending in victories for the Reds. The Communists also fought it out with government soldiers in Darlac Province, killing 14 and losing only three known dead.

The brief ceremony dissolving the Armed Forces Council was held in Quat's office. Among those present was the air force commander, Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, one of the most powerful of the generals and a staunch supporter of the civilian government.

The decision to dissolve the council was taken largely at Ky's insistence.

Quat, named premier in February, has in recent months quietly consolidated his control of the government to a far greater degree than any of his predecessors.

Opposition from Buddhist political factions has reduced sharply. Political demonstrations and rioting have disappeared.

The armed forces seem content to accept over-all civilian control.

State Abruptly Rests Case In Alabama KKK Hearing

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — State prosecutors abruptly rested their case today in the murder trial of a Ku Klux Klansman charged with slaying a civil rights demonstrator.

Court was recessed briefly to give the defense time to prepare for its first testimony.

Matt H. Murphy Jr., attorney for the Klansman, said he needed only a few minutes to line up his strategy for defending youthful Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., one of three Klansmen indicted for first - degree murder in the night-rider killing of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit.

Circuit Solicitor Arthur E. Gamble Jr., chief prosecutor, had indicated he would ask

Space Acrobatics Booked For Newest U.S. Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —A Titan 3A rocket carrying two satellites flung its third stage into orbit as a flying launch platform today to trigger a series of intended orbit-shifting space acrobatics.

The 124 - foot - tall booster blazed away from Cape Kennedy. The satellites were to be released at 2:24 p.m. after the third stage, called a transtage, fired its engines for a third time, each time changing orbit.

The Air Force reported 13 minutes after the 10 a.m. (EST) launching that the transtage had fired successfully the first time and propelled itself into a circular orbit 115 miles high. Packed in its nose were an 80-pound experimental communications satellite and a 75-pound sphere designed to help calibrate radars and radio systems in America's worldwide satellite tracking network.

After one 90-minute circuit of the globe in the initial orbit, the transtage was to re-start its engines and swing into an elliptical path ranging from 115 to 1,725 miles high.

When the transtage reached the high point of the egg-shaped orbit the second time, planned for 4 hours 24 minutes after launching, a third ignition was

Dairy Industry Curb Is Offered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Legislation designed to regulate the Ohio dairy industry to prevent monopolistic practices has been recommended for passage by the Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee.

The 6-1 vote came Wednesday night after committee members heard several opposition witnesses contend the bill would increase the price of milk and milk products.

Committee Chairman Max Dennis, R-Wilmington, and Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, co-sponsors of the measure, said it would prevent sale of dairy product as "loss leaders" and halt the "buying" of customers through loans and gifts.

more questions of an FBI expert, Marion Williams, whose testimony Wednesday linked Wilkins with a 38-caliber revolver identified by a witness as the death weapon.

But when court reconvened for the fourth day in the 133-year-old Lowndes County Courthouse, Gamble said he was through.

Wilkins, 21, a self-employed automobile mechanic at Fairfield, Ala., near Birmingham, is the first of three KKK members brought to trial for the slaying of the Detroit housewife.

Mrs. Liuzzo, the wife of a Teamsters Union official, was shot to death near Lowndesboro the night of March 25 after taking part in the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery and ferrying some of the marchers back to Selma.

Indicted with Wilkins — and awaiting trial — were Eugene Thomas, 42, an employee of U.S. Steel at Bessemer, Ala., and William Orville Eaton, 41, also of Bessemer.

Rowe, who said he joined the Klan at the FBI's request to get information, told the 12-man jury that he was in the car with Wilkins, Thomas and Eason when Mrs. Liuzzo was killed.

He said Wilkins used Thomas' revolver to fire two shots at almost point-blank range as their car pulled along side her automobile in a high-speed chase and emptied his gun at the car as they pulled away.

Williams, who works at the FBI laboratory at Washington, testified that a bullet found lodged at the base of the Detroit woman's brain was fired from Thomas' gun.

Another agent told the jury that the gun used in the laboratory test came from Thomas' home, and still another said a gun permit found on Thomas was issued for the same pistol.

Williams first testified that three bullets found in the car were determined by laboratory tests to have come from the gun which Rowe had said Thomas handed to young Wilkins just before the shooting.

Teacher Contracts Renewed By Logan Elm School Board

Confirmation of teachers' contracts headed the business agenda at this week's meeting of the Logan Elm Board of Education.

Contracts have been renewed upon recommendation of George McDowell, county superintendent and John Henn, executive head. Included were: two year contract term — Mrs. Iva C. Bailey, Mrs. Virgie L. Cox, Owen L. Duncan, Mrs. Elizabeth Dunkel, Mrs. Phyllis Lambert, Mrs. Columbia S. Lockard, Larry C. Mallet, Mrs. Linda Siverling, Mrs. M. Madeline Tagg.

Five year contract term — Mrs. Virginia Courtwright, Gerald A. Leist, Robert A. Petty, Mrs. Dolly Riddle, Mrs. Lillian Stephens, Dow O. West. Mrs. Ruth Notestone, Mrs. Jean Mills, Mrs. Ann Pollum and William Wilkams have been offered one year contracts to teach in Logan Elm School System.

ONLY two teaching vacancies exist in the Logan Elm District. Both are in the high school. Applications are being accepted for a football coach with a social studies major and for the position of guidance counselor - teacher.

Procedure for purchasing custodial supplies was reviewed and will remain the same as last year on a bid basis. The purchasing of other items such as bottle gas, fuel oil, coal and tires will remain in the hands of the same dealers that provided service during this past school year.

All board members agreed on establishing a driver education course at the high school. Due to limited operating funds, only two sections will be offered.

Plans to revise the music program for the elementary schools, with the intention of strengthening the music program and relieving the principals part time, were studied and discussed.

Nun Starts New Job at Age of 65

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Sister Francetta Barberis is beginning again — with a tarnished silver dollar and a new job at the age of 65.

Sister Francetta, now president of Webster College at St. Louis, becomes a full-time consultant and coordinator for Job Corps centers for women June 1. She will wear secular clothing while working instead of the black robes of the Roman Catholic Sisters of Loreta.

"Life is a series of beginnings," she says. "Beginnings make life exciting and the final great beginning is death."

When she became Webster College President in 1938, the school needed money and Sister Francetta started a fund drive. One day a student stopped her, handed her the silver dollar and said it was all she had to give.

"That silver dollar was part of my beginning here and I don't think I'll ever give it away," says the nun.

Sister Francetta thinks nothing of working in secular dress instead of the habit she has worn since 1928 as a Roman Catholic nun.

"People put too much emphasis on clothing," she says. "When I go swimming, I wear a swimming suit. When I work among the people, it would behoove me to wear the habit of the people."

Baseball Blamed For Eye Injury

John Fuller, 37, of 168 Montclair Ave., was treated in the emergency room at Berger Hospital yesterday for a laceration above his right eye. He was struck by a baseball at home. Also receiving care was Jimmy Roundhouse, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roundhouse, 104 Parkview Ave. He fell on concrete steps and lacerated his forehead. Both were released.

1,900 Cans of Beer Grabbed by Passersby PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A trailer truck's load shifted at a slight downgrade and 1,900 cans of beer spilled onto the intersection.

Before the driver could stop, motorists and pedestrians scooped up all the beer and fled. "I thought they were going to help salvage the load," Edmund Vandercasteller Jr., said Wednesday, "but by the time I got the truck out of the line of traffic, there was nothing left to salvage."

A U.S. military spokesman said three American servicemen were wounded Wednesday.

Two Army helicopter crewmen were hit during a government operation near Da Nang airbase, and an Air Force enlisted man was slightly wounded during a mission to apply defoliation spray along a road. All three were released after treatment.

The spokesman said Viet Cong guerrilla attacks in South Viet Nam continue to increase and "a rather substantial number were reported in the 24 hours ending Thursday morning."

Five Viet Cong attacks were reported Wednesday, with three ending in victories for the Reds. The Communists also fought it out with government soldiers in Darlac Province, killing 14 and losing only three known dead.

The brief ceremony dissolving the Armed Forces Council was held in Quat's office. Among those present was the air force commander, Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, one of the most powerful of the generals and a staunch supporter of the civilian government.

The decision to dissolve the council was taken largely at Ky's insistence.

Quat, named premier in February, has in recent months quietly consolidated his control of the government to a far greater degree than any of his predecessors.

Opposition from Buddhist political factions has reduced sharply. Political demonstrations and rioting have disappeared.

The armed forces seem content to accept over-all civilian control.

State Abruptly Rests Case In Alabama KKK Hearing

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — State prosecutors abruptly rested their case today in the murder trial of a Ku Klux Klansman charged with slaying a civil rights demonstrator.

Court was recessed briefly to give the defense time to prepare for its first testimony.

Matt H. Murphy Jr., attorney for the Klansman, said he needed only a few minutes to line up his strategy for defending youthful Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., one of three Klansmen indicted for first - degree murder in the night-rider killing of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit.

Circuit Solicitor Arthur E. Gamble Jr., chief prosecutor, had indicated he would ask more questions of an FBI expert, Marion Williams, whose testimony Wednesday linked Wilkins with a 38-caliber revolver identified by a witness as the death weapon.

But when court reconvened for the fourth day in the 133-year-old Lowndes County Courthouse, Gamble said he was through.

Wilkins, 21, a self-employed automobile mechanic at Fairfield, Ala., near Birmingham, is the first of three KKK members brought to trial for the slaying of the Detroit housewife.

Mrs. Liuzzo, the wife of a Teamsters Union official, was shot to death near Lowndesboro the night of March 25 after taking part in the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery and ferrying some of the marchers back to Selma.

Indicted with Wilkins — and awaiting trial — were Eugene Thomas, 42, an employee of U.S. Steel at Bessemer, Ala., and William Orville Eaton, 41, also of Bessemer.

Rowe, who said he joined the Klan at the FBI's request to get information, told the 12-man jury that he was in the car with Wilkins, Thomas and Eaton when Mrs. Liuzzo was killed.

He said Wilkins used Thomas' revolver to fire two shots at almost point-blank range as their car pulled along side her automobile in a high-speed chase and emptied his gun at the car as they pulled away.

Williams, who works at the FBI laboratory at Washington, testified that a bullet found lodged at the base of the Detroit woman's brain was fired from Thomas' gun.

Another agent told the jury that the gun used in the laboratory test came from Thomas' home, and still another said a gun permit found on Thomas was issued for the same pistol.

Williams first testified that three bullets found in the car were determined by laboratory tests to have come from the gun which Rowe had said Thomas handed to young Wilkins just before the shooting.

Space Acrobatics Booked For Newest U.S. Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A Titan 3A rocket carrying two satellites flung its third stage into orbit as a flying launch platform today to trigger a series of intended orbit-shifting space acrobatics.

The 124 - foot - tall booster blazed away from Cape Kennedy. The satellites were to be released at 2:24 p.m. after the third stage, called a transtage, fired its engines for a third time, each time changing orbit.

The Air Force reported 13 minutes after the 10 a.m. (EST) launching that the transtage had fired successfully the first time and propelled itself into a circular orbit 115 miles high.

Packed in its nose were an 80-pound experimental communications satellite and a 75-pound sphere designed to help calibrate radars and radio systems in America's worldwide satellite tracking network.

After one 90-minute circuit of the globe in the initial orbit, the transtage was to re-start its engines and swing into an elliptical path ranging from 115 to 1,725 miles high.

When the transtage reached the high point of the egg-shaped orbit the second time, planned for 4 hours 24 minutes after launching, a third ignition was

Dairy Industry Curb Is Offered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Legislation designed to regulate the Ohio dairy industry to prevent monopolistic practices has been recommended for passage by the Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee.

The 6-1 vote came Wednesday night after committee members heard several opposition witnesses contend the bill would increase the price of milk and milk products.

Committee Chairman Max Dennis, R-Wilmington, and Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, co-sponsors of the measure, said it would prevent sale of dairy product as "loss leaders" and halt the "buying" of customers through loans and gifts.

We live in an age of envy and voracity. You would think that there would be no trouble in getting Congress to reform the Copyright Act to extend the protection of an author's work for the duration of his life and some time thereafter. After all, when one creates something it conforms to old John Locke's classic definition of property as something that has been "mixed with one's labor." The use of it by others should command a fee. But when a draft Copyright Revision bill went to Congress a year ago, various teachers' organizations objected. They think writers should be happy to contribute their product free after a certain point for purposes of education.

When members of the Authors Guild met with representatives of educational organizations last January to complain that school and library expropriation of the product of an author's mind would make free lance writing more precarious than it is, they got a contemptuous answer: "Why don't you quit and go on someone's payroll?" In short, the educators have gone over to the philosophy of the Organization Man. This, of course, is just what writers, who are primarily individualists, hate.

The educators have no case in equity and justice for their attitude. They expect to be paid for teaching, and writers—who are, incidentally, teachers too—are quite correct when they insist that the same standards should apply to novelists, poets and dramatists that apply to the members of the educational hierarchy. Every worker is worthy of his hire, and any man who has created a property is entitled to rents or royalties therefrom.

Having said this, I must add that writers are often a most inconsistent lot. For the same authors' organizations—the Authors Guild and the Authors League of America—that object when teachers expropriate writings for classroom use are now whooping it up for the "inauguration of a federal program to aid and encourage the creative and performing arts." In other words, they propose taxing money by force of taxation from bricklayers, locomotive engineers, truckdrivers, plumbers, and whoever to support writers. They are, in brief, hoping to do to the bricklayers, the plumbers and the rest of the non-artist public precisely what the educators, in opposing the extension of the scope of the Copyright Act, are trying to do to the novelists, the poets and the essayists. They are trying to take a portion of the bricklayers' and the plumbers' product without paying for it.

The Authors League justifies "the need for public support for the creative arts" via taxation and subsidy because these arts "are an inextricable part of the educational process of a mature society." But the teachers justify taking an author's writings for free on the same grounds: novels and poems are "an in-tricable part of the educational process" and should in the name of pedagogy be fair game in fulfilling the "need for public support" of the school system.

True enough, the Authors League envisages getting its share of anything that comes from the creation of a National Arts Foundation and a National Humanities Foundation by way of payments to the artist "made for the publication, performance, exhibitions and other uses of his works." But the plumber, the bricklayer, and the bank teller will be covering the losses involved in setting up government-subsidized foundations. This brings us back to the revision of the Copyright Act. Why, in the name of consistency should writers be accorded a protection which they refuse to accord to plumbers, bricklayers, and bank tellers?

Well, we live in a pragmatic society, and it is no doubt pragmatic to spread the subsidies around to whoever is strong enough to force Congress to listen. If farmers can receive money for plowing under cotton and wheat, no doubt artists should have money from the taxpayer for products that they can't dispose of at a sufficiently high fee in the marketplace. But if this is the way we do things in a pragmatic—i.e., an unprincipled—society, the teachers will probably continue to get away with using works of literary art without paying much attention to the writers' demands for copyright protection.

PRODUCER JULIUS MONK essayed one tiny role in a movie between staging revues at New York's Plaza Hotel, and was highly pleased when a girl at his dry cleaning establishment hazarded, "Didn't I see you this week in the movies?" "You certainly did," beamed Monk. "Aha," nodded the girl. "I thought I recognized the suit!"

They're still telling stories about George Horace Lorimer, long-time editor of the Saturday Evening Post in the days of its glory. Lorimer knew exactly what he wanted—and what his readers did, too—and woe betided any author who tried to tamper with his formula. The author who probably sold Lorimer more stories than any other three Post contributors combined was Clarence Buddington Kelland. Kelland met Lorimer one day at lunch and told him, "I'll have my new serial ready to deliver to you in two weeks." "Good," enthused Lorimer. "Don't go changing that plot!"

Burt Shafer pictures the boy Nero practicing his violin lesson with obvious reluctance while his mother in the background confides to a neighbor, "I'm afraid my son will never set the world on fire."

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO
Pickaway District Adult scouts were planning to meet in the Lutheran Church.

Ervin Leist, utilities, manager announced that the city's water standpipe would be drained so it could be painted inside and that it might cause iron to increase in the system and produce "red" water.

Junior and Senior English Merit Societies at CHS held their annual banquet in the Presbyterian Church.

TEN YEARS AGO
Revenue from city parking violations took a drastic drop during the past month, according to a monthly report from Circleville's Municipal Court.

NEW YORK (AP)—By turns pitied, pampered and praised, the consumer today is at once the darling of the economy and, some say, the victim.

Never before have so many economists looked so hard to find out what the consumer is going to do next with his money. Businessmen spend half a billion dollars a year just to try to learn who's going to buy what and when.

For it's the consumer's choice that dictates what most of the factories of the nation produce. Critics of the system, however, argue that never before has it been so hard for the consumer to make an intelligent choice among competing goods. Sheer abundance creates its own problems. Cheap goods sometimes drive out quality goods. Consumers are bombarded with advertising for competing products. Not everyone has the special, technical knowledge that can permit him to say with assurance he's bought the best value in an appliance or an automobile or a suit.

Many consumers vote and many politicians, well aware of this, launch campaigns on their behalf. In Washington, the Senate Commerce Committee has begun hearings on a "truth in packaging" bill. The National Commission on Food Marketing established by Congress at the suggestion of President Johnson, is taking testimony on a seven-city schedule.

Whether the consumer can or does spend his money intelligently, one thing is certain: He's a bigger spender and his ranks are growing rapidly.

Economists at the National Industrial Conference Board estimate that although the population in 1975 will be only 20 per cent bigger, the level of consumption will be 50 per cent bigger.

Every year about a million families move into the $10,000-plus bracket of income. By economists' standards this gives them more than they need for minimum food, clothing and shelter.

I am about to enter a hospital for an operation on my gall bladder. I am terrified. I have been given complete reassurance by my doctor, but the fear is mounting. For 50 years I have carried the terrible scars of the nightmarish operation when my tonsils were removed at 6 years of age. I dread the next few months.

Mrs. L. B. B., Louisiana
Dear Mrs. B.: You are not alone in the uncontrolled terror that returns to the adult after a "nightmarish" operation in childhood.

Fortunately, today's children are properly prepared for an operation by being told the truth ahead of time of everything that will happen to them at the hospital. Emotional scars like yours will not be their heritage.

Your doctor's reassurance should be sufficient support during the difficult waiting period.

Pragmatic Society

We live in an age of envy and voracity. You would think that there would be no trouble in getting Congress to reform the Copyright Act to extend the protection of an author's work for the duration of his life and some time thereafter. After all, when one creates something it conforms to old John Locke's classic definition of property as something that has been "mixed with one's labor." The use of it by others should command a fee. But when a draft Copyright Revision bill went to Congress a year ago, various teachers' organizations objected. They think writers should be happy to contribute their product free after a certain point for purposes of education.

When members of the Authors Guild met with representatives of educational organizations last January to complain that school and library expropriation of the product of an author's mind would make free lance writing more precarious than it is, they got a contemptuous answer: "Why don't you quit and go on someone's payroll?" In short, the educators have gone over to the philosophy of the Organization Man. This, of course, is just what writers, who are primarily individualists, hate.

The educators have no case in equity and justice for their attitude. They expect to be paid for teaching, and writers — who are, incidentally, teachers too — are quite correct when they insist that the same standards should apply to novelists, poets and dramatists that apply to the members of the educational hierarchy. Every worker is worthy of his hire, and any man who has created a property is entitled to rents or royalties therefrom.

Having said this, I must add that writers are often a most inconsistent lot. For the same authors' organizations — the Authors Guild and the Authors League of America — that object when teachers expropriate writings for classroom use are now whooping it up for the "inauguration of a federal program to aid and encourage the creative and performing arts." In other words, they propose taking money by force of taxation from bricklayers, locomotive engineers, truckdrivers, plumbers, and whoever to support writers. They are, in brief, hoping to do to the bricklayers, the plumbers and the rest of the non-artist public precisely what the educators, in opposing the extension of the scope of the Copyright Act, are trying to do to the novelists, the poets and the essayists. They are trying to take a portion of the bricklayers' and the plumbers' product without paying for it.

The Authors League justifies "the need for public support for the creative arts" via taxation and subsidy because these arts "are an inextricable part of the educational process of a mature society." But the teachers justify taking an author's writings for free on the same grounds: novels and poems are "an in-ex- tricable part of the educational process" and should in the name of pedagogy be fair game in fulfilling the "need for public support" of the school system.

True enough, the Authors League envisages getting its share of anything that comes from the creation of a National Arts Foundation and a National Humanities Foundation by way of payments to the artist "made for the publication, performance, exhibitions and other uses of his works." But the plumber, the bricklayer, and the bank teller will be covering the losses involved in setting up government-subsidized foundations. This brings us back to the revision of the Copyright Act. Why, in the name of consistency should writers be accorded a protection which they refuse to accord to plumbers, bricklayers, and bank tellers?

Well, we live in a pragmatic society, and it is no doubt pragmatic to spread the subsidies around to whoever is strong enough to force Congress to listen. If farmers can receive money for plowing under cotton and wheat, no doubt artists should have money from the taxpayer for products that they can't dispose of at a sufficiently high fee in the marketplace. But if this is the way we do things in a pragmatic — i.e., an unprincipled — society, the teachers will probably continue to get away with using works of literary art without paying much attention to the writers' demands for copyright protection.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I am about to enter a hospital for an operation on my gall bladder. I am terrified. I have been given complete reassurance by my doctor, but the fear is mounting. For 50 years I have carried the terrible scars of the nightmarish operation when my tonsils were removed at 6 years of age. I dread the next few months.

Mrs. L. B. B., Louisiana
Dear Mrs. B.: You are not alone in the uncontrolled terror that returns to the adult after a "nightmarish" operation in childhood.

Fortunately, today's children are properly prepared for an operation by being told the truth ahead of time of everything that will happen to them at the hospital. Emotional scars like yours will not be their heritage.

Your doctor's reassurance should be sufficient support during the difficult waiting period.

The fact that you are waiting for a few months is an excellent assurance that you are in no need for emergency surgery.

Dangerous conditions can never be postponed.

You will need regular emotional "booster shots" if the necessary surgery is postponed too long. Try to reduce the waiting, or is it "stalking" time?

The safety of modern anesthesia, the gentleness and the psychological understanding of the people who administer it will wipe out the deep-seated meaning of your childhood experience.

There is no shame in seeking the further support of your physician, who knows that your total recovery from surgery depends on your inner emotional strength.

Please furnish us with the names of plastic surgeons who can give us an opinion about surgery on our daughter's protruding ears. Is the operation a dangerous one?

Mrs. M. R., Massachusetts
Dear Mrs. R.: Corrective surgery for large ears is most gratifying to the patient and to the surgeon.

The simple joy of "wearing the hair back" without self-conscious embarrassment compensates for the slight operative discomfort.

Whether you live in a small community or a large city, there is but one and only one way to "find" a plastic surgeon. Undoubtedly you have discussed the psychological advantages of this kind of surgery, and the best time to have it performed, with your own family physician.

He has at his command complete knowledge of the location and the particular accomplishments of all the plastic surgeons in your geographical area.

Eloise Valentine Becomes
Bride of Charles Wilson

MRS. CHARLES BRADY WILSON

Miss Eloise Faith Valentine and Mr. Charles Brady Wilson exchanged wedding vows 2:30 p. m. April 17 in the University Methodist Church, Columbus.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Valentine, 830 N. Court St. Mr. Wilson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, Columbus.

The Rev. Kenneth Clark performed the ceremony. The chancel was decorated with arrangements of white snapdragons, white gladioli and white carnations in a background of Jewell foliage and candles.

Mr. George Wilson presented nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white silk organza over taffeta trimmed with Alencon lace and fashioned with a bateau neckline and long sleeves. The dome skirt, accented at the waistline with Alencon lace and seed pearls, flowed into a full chapel length train. A crown of matching lace held her bouffant veil and she carried a cascade of feathered white carnations accented with Kenilworth ivy.

Mrs. Gloria Mione of Kettering was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Barbara Brown, Logan, and Miss Sandra Wiandt, Columbus. They wore floor length dresses of peony chiffon over taffeta designed with scooped necklines, elbow length sleeves and dome skirts accented at the waistlines with satin cummerbunds. Matching Dior bows held their pouff veils. The honor attendant carried a bouquet of pale pink and white carnations and the bridesmaids carried bouquets of pink miniature carnations.

Mr. Robert Brown, Columbus, served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Richard DeFosset and Mr. James Wilson, both of Columbus.

A reception was held at the church. The bride's table was highlighted with a three tiered wedding cake decorated with a miniature bride and groom. Hostesses were Mrs. Janice Brown, Mrs. Barbara Smetzer and Miss Esther Nichols all of Columbus.

The bride is a graduate of Pickaway High School and Otterbein College. She is a teacher in the Columbus Public School system.

Mr. Wilson is a graduate of Columbus North High School and attended Ohio State University. He is employed by Automotive Parts Co.

Following a wedding trip the couple is now residing in Columbus.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Give a Yell, Lady!

DEAR ABBY: We live on a farm, and every summer we are bombarded with the kids of our city relatives. Summers are important to a farmer because if he doesn't get his crops harvested then, it can cost him hundreds of dollars. Yet every summer, as soon as school is out, we have an endless stream of kids getting in the way, taking up our time and slowing up our work.

Don't say, "Put them to work," because some of those kids are so lazy they won't even pick up their own clothes. They would rather walk around them.

If the situation were reversed, and we sent our kids to our city relatives, would their husbands take the kids to the office and watch them all day so they wouldn't get into trouble, hurt themselves, or break something? And I wonder how many city wives would like to give up their bridge parties and make extra meals and do extra laundry for the kids. What do you suggest?

FARMER'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: I suggest you tell your city relatives exactly what you have told me. People who permit others to impose on them because they lack the nerve to say "NO" have to put up with the consequences.

DEAR ABBY: My best friend from sorority (we are both graduated from college now) asked me to be her maid of honor. She's being married soon. I accepted. Then she called me long distance and said the best man was 6'4", and since I am only 5'1" we would look silly together. So how would I like to be one of the six bridesmaids? I said all right. Then she called again and said she hoped I wouldn't feel bad but all the other bridesmaids were tall girls, and I was too short to be a bridesmaid. She made me promise I'd come to her wedding anyway. My mother says if I go I am a sap, Abby. I have never heard of cutting a girl out of a wedding party because she was too short, have you?

TOO SHORT
DEAR SHORT: NO! Your friend, the bride, is also short

TOO SHORT
DEAR SHORT: NO! Your friend, the bride, is also short on common sense and courtesy I agree with your mother.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me what you think of a mother who lets her four-year-old child kick her, hit her and slam her over the head with his toys or anything he happens to have in his hand at the moment? This little monster is so spoiled it is pathetic, and he has a very ugly temper. My friend just laughs and says it doesn't hurt, and she makes no effort to correct or punish him. I feel so sorry for her.

AIRPORT ROAD
DEAR ROAD: Don't waste your sympathy on the mother. The "little monster" will need it when he goes to school and tries to use those tactics on his teacher and playmates. When a mother neglects to teach her child how to control his emotions, he learns the hard way. And pays dearly for the lesson.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FASHION-MINDED: Yes, the skirts are getting shorter, and the necklines are plunging deeper. And I don't like it, either, but as long as the two don't eventually meet, we are lucky.

ELECTRIC GREENHOUSE — No bigger than a bread box and light as a feather, this greenhouse produces more seedling plants than its owner, Miss Florence Bitzer can use. An apartment dweller she has no garden but she loves growing plants from seed and gives away the seedlings to relatives and friends. Looking at the greenhouse here is Lee Bowser, great-nephew of Miss Bitzer.

Apartment Dweller Is Able To Maintain Greenhouse

Miss Florence Bitzer, who lives in an apartment at 137 Watt Street, had overly good luck last year growing tomatoes from seed.

She started them in her small Westinghouse greenhouse (it's just 15 by 13½ inches) in February. By the time it was warm enough to set out plants she had pots of tomatoes in all her windows and on all her table tops.

Tomatoes grow at a good rate of speed. Actually they almost took over the apartment.

This spring she planted her seeds about the middle of April and she switched to petunias.

THE BITZER family moved to a farm in 1910. This was because one of Miss Bitzer's brothers was in a state of delicate health and the doctor ordered fresh air and country living.

Miss Bitzer is the daughter of the late Judge George B. Bitzer, prominent Chillicothe barrister. Reared in Adelphi, the judge had long admired a farm in Kinnikinnick which he frequently passed. This was the acreage he purchased for his family. And moving to the country proved a pleasure to everybody concerned, especially to Miss Florence who took to gardening and farm chores like a duck to water.

And although she has long since lived in town she loves to remember the farm at Kinnikinnick where she first knew the pleasure of gardening and learned the fun of growing plants from seed. On the farm she grew most of her own perennials from seed and to this day she says there is no greater satisfaction.

Once a friend asked her why she didn't buy her perennial plants and her reply was that she wanted the fun of growing them.

Miss Bitzer's little electrically heated greenhouse looks a good bit like a clear plastic breadbox, and it's not one mite larger. As plants grow she can extend the plastic sides upward so the plants can reach a height of 15 inches before they have to be transplanted.

The greenhouse has two plastic trays holding soil which is probably four inches deep. The dirt is sterilized by pouring boiling water over it some three hours before the planting is done.

AT PRESENT Miss Bitzer has red, blue, purple, pink and white petunias, dwarf snapdragons and Appleblossom petunias. The packet of appleblossom petunia seed had 75 seeds marked on the outside. The seeds germinated within a week and were 100 per cent successful.

Of course plants are very thick. Miss Bitzer plans to transplant them as soon as possible into small jiffy pots. Since she has no garden she will give all her plants away.

Incidentally, her greenhouse soil is a mixture of leaf mold, sand and peatmoss. Watering is no problem. When the plants need moisture she simply removes the top of the greenhouse and sprinkles them with drops of water she shakes off a little vegetable brush. She admitted feeling that this was not an efficient method, but it worked so well she saw no reason to change.

The plants thrive in the little greenhouse without benefit of fluorescent lighting. A large window from the north seems to provide plenty of sun.

In the same window Miss Bitzer has other plants, including several varieties of African violets which she has grown from a leaf.

This gardener says she has one failing. She cannot bear to pitch out plants that are not thriving or for that matter to throw away any sort of plant.

SHE HAS a pot of chrysanthemums and a poinsettia which she plans to take out to her nephew, John Dunlap Jr. of Williamsport. Incidentally, it was he and his wife who presented Miss Bitzer with her tiny greenhouse.

And it was he who took the tomato plants off her hands when they crowded the apartment. In fact, she started the whole tomato bit for her nephew. She was a little surprised that she had such good luck. But good luck she does have.

The greenhouse is very light in weight, hardly more than eight pounds even when the trays are filled with soil. It's owner can pick it up and move it with ease.

It is as handy a piece of equipment as the garden editor ever saw. She is inclined to think there should be one in every gardening home.

For persons as lucky as Miss Bitzer, the tiny greenhouse would bring many hours of pleasure. You could populate your garden with your own raised-from-seed plants.

PROBATE COURT NOTICE
All interested parties are hereby notified that the following Executrix filed her account in the Probate Court of Pickaway County, Ohio:

No. 21612 Helen E. Haag, Executrix of the estate of John William Haag, deceased. First and final account.

And that said account will be for hearing and settlement before this Probate Court on Monday, May 24th, 1965, at 9 o'clock A. M. Exceptions to said account, if any, must be filed herein on or before May 18th, 1965.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Probate Court this 21st day of April, 1965.

GUY G. CLINE
Probate Judge
April 22, 29, May 6, 13.

Mrs. George K. Wright who was reared in Pickaway Twp. says her brother's wild flower garden is well worth seeing. His collection stems from many years back. In fact wildlings are the only flowers he really loves.

Miss Ethel Brobst, 209 Linden Lane, purchased a Bechtel flowering crab last year. And it's blooming this year. It was recommended by Mrs. Wright who likes it much better than magnolia and says it is longer lasting when in blossom than the magnolia.

Miss Marvene Howard, 215 Northridge Road, says tucked away somewhere in her home is a picture of the magnolia tree that is now 30 feet or more in height and belongs to the Hal Dickinsons. The tree was planted by her father, Oscar S. Howard. She knows for a fact it was there during World War I because they took pictures of it when a cousin who was in the armed services visited them.

Miss Howard is going to find the picture and we plan to have a snapshot of the young tree and of the mature tree. Next year that is!

The David Montgomerys, Route 4, have young Forsythia bushes that are trimmed to perfection. The Forsythia is a graceful shrub. Careful pruning is essential to keep it within bounds. All too many people ple end up by giving their butch hair cuts.

Mrs. Doyle Painter called to say that the flowering trees on Georgia Road were about to bloom. Residents there had a street association several years back and homeowners decided to plant blooming trees in their front yards. This they did. Many flowering crabs are in blossom now, along with a few rebuds.

Magnolias are stunning with their heavy black branches and their big water lily pink blossoms. But weeping cherries are magical enchantment.

The Joe Adkins have a weeping cherry. Just saw it this last week.

Marvene Howard, who also has a weeping cherry, says they actually are as fragile as they look. It's a lovely small shrub. Can ruin one in a short time when it's in blossom.

Dr. and Mrs. Carroll, Circle Drive, have a weeping hemlock. It's a lovely small shrub. The branches truly weep.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, 918 Circle Drive, have mahonia planted in front of their home. Bordering it was a planting of blue grape hyacinths. This was a rare and beautiful combination.

My fine sultanias are being attacked by mealybugs. Mrs. Carroll who has a greenhouse says to spray with Malathion.

The Tom Downings, 215 N. Pickaway St., have noticed their brilliant orange red tulips are mixed with cerise tulips this year. They are positive that all the bulbs they planted were red. Last year when they bloomed they were all red. They cannot account for the change in color. We have reports of this phenomenon every now and then.

Plants do seem to revert. Last spring I had a couple of lavender plants of Virginia bluebells which I moved to my lavender garden. This spring one of the plants was blue again. I must seek out a botanist and find out how this can happen.

And speaking of green flowers there's a new green tulip known as Emerald Knight.

Mrs. Loren Fogler, Route 2, Laurelville, was notified Thursday night that she had won two blue ribbons and a rosette on her two entries in the Columbus African Violet Society's 16th Annual Show in Columbus. The violet named "Tweed" was the rosette winning entry. Tweed is a ruffled leaf with a double purple and white variegated bloom.

Garden Gossip

Mrs. George K. Wright, 502 Springhollow Road, says her favorite shrub is the Japanese quince.

Flowering quince is an exceptionally reliable shrub. It annually puts on a fine performance. It is almost a never fail bloomer.

One of the most remarkable and certainly the largest specimen of Japanese Quince belongs to Miss Hazel Marie Williams of Whisler.

The Tom Kyles, 202 Eastmore, have a flowering quince that is a mass of bright pink. It looks like a young shrub. At any rate it is not very big, but very pretty.

The Donald Watts of 504 N. Court St., have used flowering quince as a hedge material. It is particularly attractive at bloom time. But here is a not-often-used shrub that does make an effective hedge.

Mrs. Turney Pontius, Route 4, has a Japanese quince near her apple tree. The area is carpeted with Virginia bluebells and accented with pheasant eye narcissi and the rare but attractive yellow bellwort. It was a beautiful sight as one entered the driveway.

Mrs. Downing Discovers Early Rose

The Tom Downings, 215 N. Pickaway St., found a rose blooming April 27.

The courageous posy was peeping through a mulch of leaves near the foundation of the house.

Mrs. Downing says she saw a bit of red but felt sure it could not be a rose in blossom. She investigated. Her first thought was that somebody had tossed a make-believe rose down.

Imagine her surprise and pleasure to discover it was an actual rose! What's more the little plant has two more buds on it.

CURIOSITY enough the rose was found on a very young bush that Tom Downing had grown from a cutting. It was very close to the base of the house and extremely well protected. Mrs. Downing cut the rose and placed it in a pewter bud vase.

The precious flower is kept in the refrigerator. When visitors arrive the Downings bring out their proof.

Magnolias are stunning with their heavy black branches and their big water lily pink blossoms. But weeping cherries are magical enchantment.

The Joe Adkins have a weeping cherry. Just saw it this last week.

Marvene Howard, who also has a weeping cherry, says they actually are as fragile as they look. It's a lovely small shrub. Can ruin one in a short time when it's in blossom.

Dr. and Mrs. Carroll, Circle Drive, have a weeping hemlock. It's a lovely small shrub. The branches truly weep.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, 918 Circle Drive, have mahonia planted in front of their home. Bordered by it was a planting of blue grape hyacinths. This was a rare and beautiful combination.

My fine sultanias are being attacked by mealybugs. Mrs. Carroll who has a greenhouse says to spray with Malathion.

The Tom Downings, 215 N. Pickaway St., have noticed their brilliant orange red tulips are mixed with cerise tulips this year. They are positive that all the bulbs they planted were red. Last year when they bloomed they were all red. They cannot account for the change in color. We have reports of this phenomenon every now and then.

Plants do seem to revert. Last spring I had a couple of lavender plants of Virginia bluebells which I moved to my lavender garden. This spring one of the plants was blue again. I must seek out a botanist and find out how this can happen.

And speaking of green flowers there's a new green tulip known as Emerald Knight.

Mrs. Loren Fogler, Route 2, Laurelville, was notified Thursday night that she had won two blue ribbons and a rosette on her two entries in the Columbus African Violet Society's 16th Annual Show in Columbus. The violet named "Tweed" was the rosette winning entry. Tweed is a ruffled leaf with a double purple and white variegated bloom.

Mrs. Downing Discovers Early Rose

The Tom Downings, 215 N. Pickaway St., found a rose blooming April 27.

The courageous posy was peeping through a mulch of leaves near the foundation of the house.

Mrs. Downing says she saw a bit of red but felt sure it could not be a rose in blossom. She investigated. Her first thought was that somebody had tossed a make-believe rose down.

Imagine her surprise and pleasure to discover it was an actual rose! What's more the little plant has two more buds on it.

CURIOSLY enough the rose was found on a very young bush that Tom Downing had grown from a cutting. It was very close to the base of the house and extremely well protected.

Mrs. Downing cut the rose and placed it in a pewter bud vase.

The precious flower is kept in the refrigerator. When visitors arrive the Downings bring out their proof.

MY ACHING BACK! — Some people think that spring's a time to sit around and admire the flowers. Others take a more realistic view. Such is Mrs. Harry Barthelmas, 224 N. Scioto St., whom we caught one pleasant day digging dandelions in her backyard. Utilizing a clever approach to dandelion problems, she lets them grow to maturity and when they put forth their first blossoms she's after them with a knife. The Barthelmas moved to town from a farm during the World War II. Their backyard is large and well groomed. And Mrs. Barthelmas had no intention of allowing the dandelions to get the upper hand. In the background is a tall magnolia tree blooming in the yard of Miss Marie Hamilton.

MAGNIFICENT MAGNOLIAS — In the yard of the Hal Dickinsons, 209 N. Scioto St., grows a 50-year-old magnolia tree. A Soulangiana hybrid, it is now a sizable one, at least 30 feet. One gets a rare view of it from a second story window, says Alice Dickinson, who is pictured here with a branch of blossoms. First often gets the blossoms. Mrs. Dickinson says the tree gives a fine performance about one out of every three years. Circleville magnolias were at their best this year. They are known to live to a ripe old age. The Dickinson specimen was planted by O. S. Howard who formerly lived here.

Local Gardener Delighted With Her Crown Imperial

Mrs. Doris Shepherd, 211 Walnut St., called to ask the garden editor if she were familiar with the crown imperial.

Mrs. Shepherd had received such a bulb from the Flower-of-the-Month Club. She was delighted with it. Small wonder!

This flower, much in vogue during the 17th century, was the darling of all gardeners of the time. This was the era of powdered wigs and pirates when all the dandies were secret supporters of Scotland's Bonnie Prince Charlie.

The garden editor frequently runs across it in local gardens, especially old gardens. It has a record of longevity.

BOTANICALLY it is called Fritillaria imperialis. Bell shaped red flowers crown a sturdy thick stem and above the circle of flowers is a tuft of small leaves.

Mrs. Shepherd says she is not a patient gardener. And she likes this bulb because it put in its appearance just a month ago and last week was in full bloom.

According to the New Illustrated Encyclopedia of Gardening, Crown Imperials come in three colors — yellow, orange and red. Local plants are generally a red orange.

Crown Imperial is a beautiful and curious plant and a fine one for April gardens.

Liner Luisitania Torpedoed, Sunk By U-Boat 50 Years Ago Friday

NEW YORK (AP)—The talk of the town that drizzly Satur-day morning, May 1, 1915, was a singular notice that appeared among the shipping news in most of New York newspapers. It was signed by the Imperial German Embassy.

"Notice:

"Travelers intending to em-bark on the Atlantic voyage are reminded that a state of war exists between Germany and her allies and Great Britain and her allies, that the zone of war includes the waters adjacent to the British Isles; that in ac-cordance with final notice given by the Imperial German Govern-ment vessels flying the flag of Great Britain, or of any of her allies, are liable to destruction in those waters and that travel-ers sailing in the war zone on ships of Great Britain or her allies do so at their own risk."

Understandably, the notice was a particularly hot topic that morning on Pier 54 at the foot of West 13th Street where 1,959 travelers were about to embark on the New York to Liverpool voyage on a vessel that flew the British flag.

Her name: Luisitania. "Fastest and largest steamer in Atlantic service," the Cun-ard Line called its ocean mon-arch. She was 32,000 tons; nine decks tall; 790 feet long. Even with six of her 25 boilers shut down as a wartime economy measure, she could do 21 knots, much faster than those new ter-rors of the seas, the subma-rines, or the U-boats, as the Germans called them.

If the warning notice had frightened any of the Luisi-tania's 1,257 passengers and 702 crewmen, it didn't show.

At 12:20 p.m. while the ship's band blared "Tipperary" and Elbert Hubbard, author of the inspirational "Message to Gar-cia," waved gaily from the boat deck, the Luisitania put to sea. She was scheduled to be in Liverpool next Saturday, May 8. Only the day before, across 3,500 miles of ocean, another ship — but much smaller — had put to sea from the port of Emden, Germany. Hers was a quiet, lonely departure. The German navy called her "Unterseeboote 20," or simply U20. She was a submarine skippered by Kap-itanleutnant Walter Schwieger, just turned 32 and starting his first command.

Not until the evening of May 6, as she neared the coast of Ireland, was Luisitania re-minded that there was a war.

The message came from Queenstown, Ireland, at eight bells: "Submarines active off the south coast of Ireland." Luisitania would pass Fastnet, a rocky islet off the south coast of Ireland, in the morning.

One of the most active subma-rines in the area was U20, Kapitanleutnant Schwieger was en-joying good hunting. That very day, U20 had bagged two 6,000-ton steamers. And U20 had fuel left for at least one more day of hunting.

At dawn, Friday, May 7, Luisi-tania's passengers could smell land. The coast of Ireland hung low on the horizon, hidden in a light fog.

About noon Friday, U20 was surfaced off a 256-foot Irish landmark called Old Head of Kinsale. Kapitanleutnant Schwieger scanned the horizon with his binoculars. At first, he thought he saw two destroyers. Then he saw it was a ship with four funnels. Excitedly, he gave the order and U20 slipped to periscope depth.

The fog cleared and the sun came out. The sea was glassy calm. Houses were visible among the green hills of Ire-land. Most of the passengers were below dining on roast beef and Yorkshire pudding when Capt. William Thomas Turner sighted Old Head of Kinsale off the port bow. He ordered a slight change in course to take a bearing on the landmark.

The slight change was pre-cisely what Kapitanleutnant Schwieger wanted. It gave him a clean bow shot at the liner less than 1,000 yards away.

The torpedo from U20 struck Luisitania on her starboard side between the third and fourth funnels. It exploded in the boiler rooms of the great ship. A second blast, either a boiler or coal dust, followed the first. Luisi-tania listed to starboard. Her bow dipped to meet the sea.

In the dining salon below decks, passengers dropped their forks and fled. Stewards dropped dishes and ran for life jackets.

Capt. Turner ordered the helm thrown hard to port for a run at the Irish coast. Luisitania failed to respond.

Kapitanleutnant Schwieger, watching through his periscope, noted: "It seems as if the ves-sel will be afloat only a short time. Submerge to 24 meters and go to sea. I could not have fired a second torpedo into this throng of humanity attempting to save themselves."

Aboard the Luisitania the or-der was given to abandon ship. The port lifeboats were useless. The starboard list held them to the side of the ship. The starboard boats fared only a little better.

At 2:30 p.m., only 22 minutes after the torpedo struck, the stern of Luisitania lifted high in the air and, propellers still churning slowly, she plunged bow first to the bottom, her suc-tion dragging many desperate swimmers down with her.

In all 1,198 of the 1,959 passen-gers and crewmen died — and 124 of them were Americans, a fact that was to embarrass the Imperial German Government and indirectly cause it down-fall.

President Woodrow Wilson's protest note condemning Ger-many's unrestricted submarine warfare was worded so strongly that his secretary of state, Wil-liam Jennings Bryan, resigned over it. And, slightly less than two years later, an aroused

There's so much footwork involved in driving most lawn and garden tractors it's more like walking than riding. Constantly using the brakes, clutch, and gearshift not only wears them out, but you, too! That's why there's an exclusive Independent Ground-Speed Control on the new 8 h.p. John Deere 110 Lawn and Garden Tractor.

With a John Deere, you normally use the gearshift and clutch only twice. Once to put it in gear when you start. Once to take it out when you stop. In between, the ground-speed control takes over. In high gear you can vary your speed from 3 to 6 1/2 mph without touching the throttle and maintain full power to your mower. Perfect for tough grass, making sharp turns, or edging up close. Ideal in the winter, too, with a snow thrower.

Ground-speed control is just one reason why owners of John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractors have time to enjoy weekend retirement away from yard work.

There's so much footwork involved in driving most lawn and garden tractors it's more like walking than riding. Constantly using the brakes, clutch, and gearshift not only wears them out, but you, too! That's why there's an exclusive Independent Ground-Speed Control on the new 8 h.p. John Deere 110 Lawn and Garden Tractor.

With a John Deere, you normally use the gearshift and clutch only twice. Once to put it in gear when you start. Once to take it out when you stop. In between, the ground-speed control takes over. In high gear you can vary your speed from 3 to 6 1/2 mph without touching the throttle and maintain full power to your mower. Perfect for tough grass, making sharp turns, or edging up close. Ideal in the winter, too, with a snow thrower.

Ground-speed control is just one reason why owners of John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractors have time to enjoy weekend retirement away from yard work.

Electric Firms Settling Price Fixing Claims

NEW YORK (AP) — The bulk of the nation's electrical equipment industry, caught in a price-fixing scandal in 1960, today is in the final stages of settling damages approaching $400 million.

But because of a controversial tax ruling, the companies stand to save almost half the cost through tax deductions.

The ruling has sparked a clash between the Internal Revenue Service and some congressmen who charge that General Electric, Westinghouse and the 27 other antitrust violators are getting soft treatment. In the background is the case itself, one the Justice Department said involved secret agreements over eight years to fix prices, rig bids and divide markets on electrical equipment valued at $1.75 billion annually.

The companies and 45 executives pleaded guilty or no contest to 20 antitrust indictments before a federal judge in Philadelphia who called the price-fixing "a shocking indictment" of a vast section of the economy. He sentenced seven executives to jail for 30 days in 1961 and gave 24 others suspended sentences. Fines totaled $1.9 million.

That was only the beginning. The price-fixing by companies supposed to be in competition covered products ranging from tiny $2 insulators to huge, multimillion-dollar turbine generators. Their customers sued for triple damages under the Clayton Antitrust Act, claiming they were overcharged.

The federal government, a big customer, settled for $8.8 million from 12 companies. More than 2,000 damage suits poured into the courts from private utilities and municipal power agencies. Most have been settled, almost all by negotiation.

An Associated Press poll of 14 of the 29 companies indicated the final settlement cost may total about $400 million. Almost all of this will come from the four top companies involved. They have paid or earmarked roughly $390 million.

The controversial tax ruling made last July by the Internal Revenue Service allows the companies to deduct the cost of damage settlements as "ordinary and necessary" business expense.

Only settlements made with the federal government and federal agencies weren't deductible said the IRS.

Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., and House Judiciary Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., denounced the ruling as a "tax giveaway" and demanded an investigation.

The Internal Revenue Service said the antitrust laws on damage suits were meant to reimburse the victim, not to punish the violator. As remedial damages, said the IRS, they are tax-deductible.

A report on the ruling is expected to be submitted to the Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation this month.

East African tribesmen use the tenacious jaws of soldier ants to close their cuts, the National Geographic says. An injured man draws the two gaping edges of a cut together and allows an ant to bite. When the jaws penetrate both sides of the wound, the patient nips off the body, and the head forms a perfect stitch.

OAS Sets Up Police Force

—A State Department spokesman, commenting on the reported installation of rebel Col. Francisco Caamano Deneo as president of the Dominican Republic, said the United States feels "there is no effective government at the present time" in the riot-torn Caribbean nation.

—President Johnson conferred at the White House with former Gov. Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico. George E. Reedy, White House press secretary, said afterwards that Johnson and Munoz discussed the Dominican situation and Latin-American affairs in general.

—The number of U.S. troops in the Dominican Republic was put at 19,363 by the Defense Department. It said these included 12,439 Army men — mainly paratroopers from the 82nd Airborne Division — and 6,924 Marines. The total was 5,363 more than the 14,500 announced Sunday night by President Johnson.

The United States proposed originally that the OAS set up an inter-American force for the Dominican Republic, but the measure was revised by amendments from other countries before its final adoption.

Fourteen countries voted for the revised proposal, five — Uruguay, Mexico, Chile, Peru and Ecuador — voted against it and Venezuela abstained.

Earlier, the Venezuelans had attempted — and failed — to amend the resolution to say that the inter-American force would replace the American troops in the Dominican Republic.

In releasing the list of 58 alleged Communists and Castroites, the official sources said the information was part of what President Johnson had available when he declared Sunday night that Communists had seized the revolution started April 24 by supporters of ousted President Juan Bosch.

The need to prevent a Communist takeover in the Dominican Republic was cited by Johnson as a main reason for the dispatch of U.S. troops last week.

In Santo Domingo, a U.S. official told a news briefing Wednesday that Caamano, while not himself a Communist, is "moving closer to the Communists." The official said the "evaluation as of today is that the rebel movement is Communist-controlled."

He said the United States has evidence that Caamano met Tuesday with leaders of three Communist groups, and that the Communists "obtained from Caamano a solemn promise that if he wins (the presidency in elections) their Communist parties will have a solid voice in running the government. If the rebels lose, then arrangements are to be made for the Communists to have safe conduct out of the country."

In giving newsmen the list of 58 late Wednesday, the U.S. government sources asked not to be quoted.

They gave this account: Of the 58, 18 were trained in subversive and guerrilla tactics in Cuba and 40 have been clearly identified over the past two years as Communists and Castroist subversives. Most are Dominican nationals, but many have been indoctrinated in places like Cuba, the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Red China.

The probable military leader in the current insurrection is Manuel Gonzalez Gonzalez, a Spanish Communist who has been in the Dominican Republic since 1940, knows military tactics and is a reported Cuban intelligence agent.

Within one or two hours after the revolt April 24, the trained Communist leaders decided the situation was ripe for them. Under Gonzalez' generalship, the Reds got large amounts of weapons from the army rebels.

The Communists then fanned out in downtown Santo Domingo, forming armed paramilitary teams, establishing strong points, inciting the populists and handing out arms.

The original civilian leaders of the revolt recognized that the extreme leftists had taken over the rebellion. Virtually all of the non-Communist Bosch leaders have now quit the fight by taking sanctuary in embassies and private homes.

NEW YORK (AP) — Well, Lisa Hughes has run away from Oakdale, her ex-husband, her child and all her troubles in "As The World Turns" to start a new life — and a new TV serial — in Chicago.

CBS' new evening soap opera started Wednesday night and in a half hour busily planted many little seeds that are bound to develop into big weepy problems during the weeks ahead.

Lisa's new job is in a hospital, the ideal setting for a serial because its a great place to meet people with assorted problems. She already has encountered an unhappy girl patient who has been kicked out of school, drinks too much, has fought with her boy friend and won't speak to members of her worried family.

In terms of plot, the new two-a-week serial looks and sounds to this non-addicted viewer about the same as the run-of-the-mine daytime soap operas. There seems to be one big difference. Nighttime characters spend less time sitting around drinking coffee and discussing their troubles. They discuss them but they don't drink so much coffee. Maybe we viewers should.

NBC, which has been leading the broadcasting pack in colorcasts, will have all except two of its regular evening programs next season in peacock raiment. The two black-and-white shows are "Convoy," an action series about World War II merchant ships, and a comedy series, "I Dream of Jeannie," cut along the pattern of supernatural "Bewitched."

ABC, which started its colorcasts modestly with cartoon series and reruns of feature movies, new plans to move about a third of its evening entertainment programs into color.

CBS, which has shown the least interest in color TV, has had a change of heart and policy. Eight of its regular shows will be in color next season — the Lucille Ball, Danny Kaye and Red Skelton shows, "Lassie," "My Favorite Martian," "Beverly Hillsbillies" and the new "Hogan's Heroes."

Injured Girl Wins Point in High Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Cincinnati girl who was injured by a car when she took her bicycle into the street to avoid a sidewalk dog fight got an assist Wednesday from the Ohio Supreme Court in her claim for damages.

The high court let stand an order by the 1st District Appeals Court for a jury trial in the case of Elizabeth Neulist, who was eight years old when the incident occurred July 20, 1962.

The girl's father, Anton Neulist, brought the action against dog owners William Victor and George Crawford, and Robert Whalen, driver of the automobile involved in the accident.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Court dismissed the suit but the appeals court reversed and returned the case for further proceedings before a jury.

Osborne Estates Co. lost its appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court in an action for real estate tax remission on four acres of land engulfed by Lake Erie.

In a suit against the state board of tax appeals, Lake County Board of Revision and county officials, the company claimed that taxation of non-existent land violated its rights under state and federal constitutions.

About 48 acres involving in two parcels dating back to 1892 and 1919 was shown by a 1961 survey to have diminished to 44 acres. The suit alleged that officials were negligent in failing to reevaluate the land for tax purposes.

The board of appeals said it lacked jurisdiction because action was not taken for each succeeding year and the 7th District Appeals Court affirmed.

James L. Price of Cleveland, won a Supreme Court order for Huron County Common Pleas Court to enter judgment on a $10,000 award against McCoy Sales and Service, Norwalk, for injuries received in an Ohio Turnpike accident.

The Norwalk firm's service truck, towing Price's disabled car, was making a u-turn when struck by another automobile driven by Charles W. Chase of Wadsworth May 2, 1959.

The trial court jury returned a verdict against McCoy but the judgment was set aside and a new trial ordered. The 6th District Appellate Court dismissed an appeal but the high court reversed and said a new trial should have been overruled.

Court Makes Disposition On 46 Cases

The April report of the Common Pleas Court docket has been completed by Sara M. Dresbach, court clerk.

The report listed 206 cases pending at the beginning of the month. There were 23 new ones filed and 46 were disposed of during the month.

Cases pending as of April 30 totaled 183.

In a breakdown, 57 domestic relations cases were pending as of the end of the month, 108 civil cases were on the court docket and 18 criminal cases were pending.

Of the 46 cases disposed of during the month, 13 were tried to court, two were settled by cognovit and default judgments and 31 were settled or dismissed.

The report lists one case pending in the court of appeals.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Probably no man in the White House ever wished more for public approval, or was more conscious of critics, than President Johnson.

It does much to explain his switch in tactics. After ordering Marines into South Viet Nam and the bombing of North Viet Nam, he had to be prodded into talking. Since sending troops into the Dominican Republic he hasn't stopped talking.

When the bombing began last February, the White House simply issued a statement that it was in retaliation for a guerrilla attack on a U.S. air base in South Viet Nam.

As the weeks passed and the bombings continued and the Marines went in Johnson was pelted with critics at home and abroad, although he got much approval. But he played so much pressures piled on him to start explaining.

He finally did on April 7. But the criticism continued. Then he did the exact opposite in public relations last week when he decided to send troops into the Dominican Republic, splintered into chaos by revolution.

He went on the air to explain April 28, April 30, and again May 2. All these broadcasts were at night, the last one Sunday night. It meant breaking into programs. On the last broadcast, 30 minutes long, not all networks carried him.

But the way he built up to main emphasis on why he used troops in Asia and Latin America was almost identical in both cases.

In Viet Nam he first put the emphasis on saving the South Vietnamese people from communism but finally put it on American determination to stop the spread of communism.

In the Dominican Republic he first put the emphasis on saving American lives there and later said the goal was stopping the spread of communism in the Americas.

But, remembering the criticism he got for not talking sooner on Viet Nam, Johnson's timetable of public statements on the Dominican Republic can hardly be interpreted as anything but an anxious search for approval.

First, three broadcasts — April 28 and 30 and May 2 — and on the last day an off-the-record walk around the White House with reporters, explaining his problems.

A 30-minute broadcast May 2 and on May 3 an unexpected appearance before a labor conference to defend his actions in Latin America. But Tuesday, May 4, was truly a busy talking day.

He sent a message to Congress, asking it to vote $700 million for the Viet Nam fighting, but first he brought squads of senators and representatives for a briefing on what he was going to repeat in the message anyway.

He left no doubt here that what he wanted, more than the money, was approval. He explained he could get the money from other funds already approved by Congress. He explained his motive.

Nothing, he said, could do more to show national unity — which means support for him — than an "overwhelming vote" for what he asked.

"To deny and delay this," he went on, "means to deny and delay the fullest support of the American people and the American Congress to those brave men who are risking their lives, for freedom in Viet Nam."

He said all those voting for his request would be telling the world Congress and the President stood united in frustrating communism.

While the House approved the money Wednesday, and the Senate will quickly, several senators expressed misgivings about having their votes interpreted as blanket approval for waging undeclared war anywhere.

After his Tuesday session with the members of Congress Johnson led reporters on an hour-long trek around the White House again, talking about Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic and his responsibilities, and defending his actions against criticism.

It was an extraordinary week and, for a President, an extraordinary performance.

New Air Museum Gets $1 Million Donation

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Industrialist Eugene Kettering has donated $1 million to a campaign to build a new $10 million Air Force Museum near here.

Kettering is president of the Charles F. Kettering Foundation, named after the automotive pioneer and inventor.

Campaign Chairman David L. Rike said the donation is believed to be largest single amount ever given to a Dayton fund-raising project.

Injured Girl Wins Point in High Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cincinnati girl who was injured by a car when she took her bicycle into the street to avoid a sidewalk dog fight got an assist Wednesday from the Ohio Supreme Court in her claim for damages.

The high court let stand an order by the 1st District Appeals Court for a jury trial in the case of Elizabeth Neulist, who was eight years old when the incident occurred July 20, 1962.

The girl's father, Anton Neulist, brought the action against dog owners William Victor and George Crawford, and Robert Whalen, driver of the automobile involved in the accident.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Court dismissed the suit but the appeals court reversed and returned the case for further proceedings before a jury.

Osborne Estates Co. lost its appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court in an action for real estate tax remission on four acres of land engulfed by Lake Erie.

In a suit against the state board of tax appeals, Lake County Board of Revision and county officials, the company claimed that taxation of non-existent land violated its rights under state and federal constitutions.

About 48 acres involving in two parcels dating back to 1892 and 1919 was shown by a 1961 survey to have diminished to 44 acres. The suit alleged that officials were negligent in failing to reevaluate the land for tax purposes.

The board of appeals said it lacked jurisdiction because action was not taken for each succeeding year and the 7th District Appeals Court affirmed.

James L. Price of Cleveland, won a Supreme Court order for Huron County Common Pleas Court to enter judgment on a $10,000 award against McCoy Sales and Service, Norwalk, for injuries received in an Ohio Turnpike accident.

The Norwalk firm's service truck, towing Price's disabled car, was making a u-turn when struck by another automobile driven by Charles W. Chase of Wadsworth May 2, 1959.

The trial court jury returned a verdict against McCoy but the judgment was set aside and a new trial ordered. The 6th District Appellate Court dismissed an appeal but the high court reversed and said a new trial should have been overruled.

Court Makes Disposition On 46 Cases

The April report of the Common Pleas Court docket has been completed by Sara M. Dresbach, court clerk.

The report listed 206 cases pending at the beginning of the month. There were 23 new ones filed and 46 were disposed of during the month.

Cases pending as of April 30 totaled 183.

In a breakdown, 57 domestic relations cases were pending as of the end of the month, 108 civil cases were on the court docket and 18 criminal cases were pending.

Of the 46 cases disposed of during the month, 13 were tried to court, two were settled by cognovit and default judgments and 31 were settled or dismissed.

The report lists one case pending in the court of appeals.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Probably no man in the White House ever wished more for public approval, or was more conscious of critics, than President Johnson.

It does much to explain his switch in tactics. After ordering Marines into South Viet Nam and the bombing of North Viet Nam, he had to be prodded into talking. Since sending troops into the Dominican Republic he hasn't stopped talking.

When the bombing began last February, the White House simply issued a statement that it was in retaliation for a guerrilla attack on a U.S. air base in South Viet Nam.

As the weeks passed and the bombings continued and the Marines went in Johnson was pelted with critics at home and abroad, although he got much approval. But he played so much pressure piled on him to start explaining.

He finally did on April 7. But the criticism continued. Then he did the exact opposite in public relations last week when he decided to send troops into the Dominican Republic, splintered into chaos by revolution.

He went on the air to explain April 28, April 30, and again May 2. All these broadcasts were at night, the last one Sunday night. It meant breaking into programs. On the last broadcast, 30 minutes long, not all networks carried him.

But the way he built up to main emphasis on why he used troops in Asia and Latin America was almost identical in both cases.

In Viet Nam he first put the emphasis on saving the South Vietnamese people from communism but finally put it on American determination to stop the spread of communism.

In the Dominican Republic he first put the emphasis on saving American lives there and later said the goal was stopping the spread of communism in the Americas.

But, remembering the criticism he got for not talking sooner on Viet Nam, Johnson's timetable of public statements on the Dominican Republic can hardly be interpreted as anything but an anxious search for approval.

Lake County To Try Bail-Free System
PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Certain prisoners who have been bound to the Grand Jury will be allowed to go free without bail while awaiting trial for a six-month test period. The Lake County Bar Association unanimously endorsed the plan Wednesday.

Reviewing prisoners backgrounds, the court will decide whether they will be released on their own recognizance. County judges approved the test period. A Bar Association committee will interview the prisoners.

Similar programs have been started in Lucas and Cuyahoga counties.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, May 6, the 126th day of 1965. There are 239 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1942, Gen. Jonathan Wainwright surrendered Corregidor to the Japanese, the end of resistance to their conquest of the Philippines. Then began the long and painful retreat on Bataan.

On this date: In 1889, the Eiffel Tower was opened, marking the start of the Paris World's Fair.

In 1937, the German dirigible Hindenburg exploded and burned over Lakehurst, N.J.; 36 were killed.

In 1941, Joseph Stalin became premier of the Soviet Union.

In 1943, U.S. Army planes attacked the Aleutian islands of Kiska and Attu.

Ten years ago—Britain asked the International Court of Justice to order recognition of British sovereignty over the Falkland Islands and reject the claims of Argentina and Chile.

Five years ago — Princess Margaret became the bride of a commoner, Antony Armstrong-Jones, in a ceremony in Westminster Abbey.

One year ago — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev left for a visit with President Gamal Abdel Nasser in Egypt.

Cub Pack 170 Holds Meeting

The April meeting of Cub Pack 170 was held recently at the Lutheran Church.

Theme for the meeting was "Keep Ohio Beautiful." Danny Sprouse of Den 4 read a poem, "Litter Bug."

The unit inspection was held. Entertainment included games and group singing. Each Cub received a pine tree to plant.

A field day for Cub Scouts will be held at the Fairgrounds 2 p. m. May 23.

Pat Dawson spent the week-end with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Dawson in Wayery.

A large crowd attended the meeting Friday evening at the Five Points Methodist church. Dr. Robert G. Smith a surgeon at Berger Hospital was guest speaker. He showed slides and gave an interesting talk on his mission as a medical worker on the Hospital Ship S. S. Hope. A desert course was served following the program. Mrs. Edna McPherson, Mrs. Marion Riley, Mrs. William Riley and Mrs. Ernest Sheets were hostesses for the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barthelmas Sr. of Circleville and Mr. and Mrs. William Davis and family were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Hanawalt.

Mental Health Assn. Here Is Ready for Observance

Mrs. Richard Fisher of the Pickaway County Mental Health Assn., says that the proclamation of governor James A. Rhodes, setting Mental Health Week as May 1 through 7, has been received from the Ohio Mental Health Association.

The proclamation coincides with the observation of National Mental Health Week as proclaimed by the President. It sets aside this period for those interested in the citizen's mental health movement, and those connected with the care and treatment programs, to "showcase" their history, programs, achievements and objectives.

As those who know them best characterize persons in the mental health movement, "every week is Mental Health Week for them." In this regard, members of the Pickaway County Mental Health Assn. actually set aside the month of May each year — and call it "Mental Health Month."

The work of this organization and that of the Ohio Mental Health Assn., Inc., has in recent years come more and more into the spotlight, and their progress is indicated in many ways.

The proclamation notes, for instance, that this is the 35th Anniversary of OMHA. This is still a young organization, but a dramatic drop in state hospital patients is noted, and a continuing trend toward expansion of community facilities for prevention and treatment is evident.

The proclamation also takes cognizance of the more than 2,300 Ohioans many of them from this area, who have been working on the state Comprehensive Mental Health Survey Project. The results of this work are expected to solve a great many persisting problems and provide a blueprint for future progress in the mental health field.

In Pickaway County, the officers and members of the Mental Health Assn. are planning a special event in which the participation of the public will be specifically invited during the May observance period.

Everett Beers, president of the Pickaway County Mental Health Assn. welcomes everyone to a countywide meeting 8 p. m. May 19. A report on the Scioto - Paint Valley Guidance Center will be made, and the proposed services to this county by the Mental Health Assn. will be presented.

Lake County To Try
Bail-Free System
PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)— Certain prisoners who have been bound to the Grand Jury will be allowed to go free without bail while awaiting trial for a six-month test period. The Lake County Bar Association unanimously endorsed the plan Wednesday.

Reviewing prisoners backgrounds, the court will decide whether they will be released on their own recognizance. County judges approved the test period. A Bar Association committee will interview the prisoners.

Similar programs have been started in Lucas and Cuyahoga counties.

Willie Mae's Lawyer
Launches New Fight
CLEVELAND (AP)—The attorney for Mrs. Willie Mae Mallory, whose case charging kidnapping has been appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, says he has mailed to North Carolina a motion to stay the latest proceedings against her. The 37-year-old Negro woman was re-indicted with four others in Monroe, N. C., Tuesday. Their convictions on charges of kidnapping a white couple during a race riot there in 1961 were overturned by the North Carolina Supreme Court. Mrs. Mallory was extradited from Cleveland for the trial.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, May 6, the 126th day of 1965. There are 239 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1942, Gen. Jonathan Wainwright surrendered Corregidor to the Japanese, the end of resistance to their conquest of the Philippines. Then began the long and painful retreat on Bataan.

On this date: In 1889, the Eiffel Tower was opened, marking the start of the Paris World's Fair.

In 1937, the German dirigible Hindenburg exploded and burned over Lakehurst, N.J.; 36 were killed.

In 1941, Joseph Stalin became premier of the Soviet Union.

In 1943, U.S. Army planes attacked the Aleutian islands of Kiska and Attu.

Ten years ago—Britain asked the International Court of Justice to order recognition of British sovereignty over the Falkland Islands and reject the claims of Argentina and Chile.

Five years ago — Princess Margaret became the bride of a commoner, Antony Armstrong-Jones, in a ceremony in Westminster Abbey.

One year ago — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev left for a visit with President Gamal Abdel Nasser in Egypt.

Cub Pack 170 Holds Meeting

The April meeting of Cub Pack 170 was held recently at the Lutheran Church.

Theme for the meeting was "Keep Ohio Beautiful." Danny Sprouse of Den 4 read a poem, "Litter Bug."

The unit inspection was held. Entertainment included games and group singing. Each Cub received a pine tree to plant. A field day for Cub Scouts will be held at the Fairgrounds 2 p. m. May 23.

Mental Health Assn. Here Is Ready for Observance

Mrs. Richard Fisher of the Pickaway County Mental Health Assn., says that the proclamation of governor James A. Rhodes, setting Mental Health Week as May 1 through 7, has been received from the Ohio Mental Health Association.

The proclamation coincides with the observation of National Mental Health Week as proclaimed by the President. It sets aside this period for those interested in the citizen's mental health movement, and those connected with the care and treatment programs, to "showcase" their history, programs, achievements and objectives.

As those who know them best characterize persons in the mental health movement, "every week is Mental Health Week for them." In this regard, members of the Pickaway County Mental Health Assn. actually set aside the month of May each year — and call it "Mental Health Month."

The work of this organization and that of the Ohio Mental Health Assn., Inc., has in recent years come more and more into the spotlight, and their progress is indicated in many ways.

The proclamation notes, for instance, that this is the 35th Anniversary of OMHA. This is still a young organization, but a dramatic drop in state hospital patients is noted, and a continuing trend toward expansion of community facilities for prevention and treatment is evident.

The proclamation also takes cognizance of the more than 2,300 Ohioans of whom from this area, who have been working on the state Comprehensive Mental Health Survey Project. The results of this work are expected to solve a great many persisting problems and provide a blueprint for future progress in the mental health field.

In Pickaway County, the officers and members of the Mental Health Assn. are planning a special event in which the participation of the public will be specifically invited during the May observation period.

Everett Beers, president of the Pickaway County Mental Health Assn. welcomes everyone to a countywide meeting 8 p. m. May 19. A report on the Scioto - Paint Valley Guidance Center will be made, and the proposed services to this county by the Mental Health Assn. will be presented.

Terry Whiffs His Former Yank Mates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ralph Terry of the Cleveland Indians was so effective in his first start against his former New York Yankee teammates that he struck out one of them with a pitch he doesn't even throw.

Ralph Terry

Terry, the hero of the 1962 World Series dispatched to Cleveland in the Pedro Ramos trade last season, waited almost seven months for a shot at the Yankees and then spent only an hour and 40 minutes mowing them down on three hits for a 4-0 victory Wednesday night.

Strikeout victim Tom Tresh was one of the Yankees impressed with Terry's performance.

"He sure threw me one pitch I've never seen him use before," said Tresh. "He struck me out with a kind of screwball that came up to me and broke down and out."

"I don't throw a screwball," said Terry. "I throw fastballs, curves, and sliders."

Terry, who had a 7-11 record last year, admitted that he was "happy about winning that one but I wanted to make sure I didn't rub it in."

Nevertheless, it seemed like he did.

Terry pitched effortlessly, using only 70 pitches. He allowed only singles, did not walk a man and did not allow a runner past first base while bringing his record to 4-1 and reducing his earned-run average to an eye-popping 1.66.

The Chicago White Sox, meanwhile, received strong performances from John Buzhardt and Joe Horlen, each pitching a four-hitter in 4-0 and 4-1 triumphs over Detroit. Camilo Pascual checked Baltimore on six hits in Minnesota's 9-2 victory and the Los Angeles Angels downed Boston 6-4.

Washington and Kansas City were not scheduled.

In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Cincinnati 4-2, San Francisco outsluged St. Louis 10-5 in 10 innings, Milwaukee edged Houston 2-1 in 14 innings, Philadelphia nipped the New York Mets 1-0 and the Chicago Cubs whipped Pittsburgh 3-1.

The Indians had lost 10 straight to the Yankees in Cleveland, but quicker than you can say Whitey Ford they had given Terry more working room than he needed.

With two out in the first inning, Leon Wagner homered off Ford, Rocky Colavito singled, Max Alvis walked and Fred Whitfield homered. That eventually left Ford's record at 2-2.

Buzhardt, now 3-0, struck out 11 and allowed only one Tiger to reach third base in the opener while Bill Skowron and Ron Hansen supplied home run support. Skowron also doubled and scored another run while Hansen collected another run batted in with a sacrifice fly.

Horlen was tagged for an inside-the-park homer by Dick Mc-

Tigers Lose SCO Tilt to Panthers

Ted Lewis Park was the scene of a 10-3 South Central Ohio League defeat suffered yesterday by the Circleville Tigers at the hands of Miami Trace.

The visiting Panthers blasted 13 hits and took advantage of seven bases on balls and four Tiger errors as they handed the Tigers their fourth loss in loop play. Circleville has won two games in the league.

For Miami Trace it was the fifth league win against one loss. They are tied with Hillsboro for the SCO lead.

Shortstop Tom Townsend paced the hardhitting Trace attack, blasting a two-run homer and a pair of singles in three times at bat. He had six RBIs for the game.

THE HITTING of the Tigers was good enough in the game

CHS Golfers Win, Lose in Two Drills

The Circleville golf team was defeated by Pleasant View, 5-3 at the Beacon Lights Golf course yesterday and downed Teays Valley, 5-3, Tuesday at Upper Lansdowne Links.

At Pleasant View, Chuck Smith carded a 39 for the Tigers in the first spot. Richard Fuhrman had a 46, Tim Adams a 41 and Danny Speakman a 46. Adams eagled the par 5, 530-yard eighth hole at Beacon Lights when he chipped his third shot into the cup.

For the host school George Rhinehart and John Kidwell both scored 41.

At Upper Lansdowne, Smith and Fuhrman both scored 38, Adams 43, Billy Weldon 44, Speakman 49 and Brock Bell 52.

Ronnie Leatherwood had a 38 for Teays Valley.

Miami Trace golfers will be at the Pickaway Country Club tonight. Marietta will be here Saturday for an 18-hole match.

The New York Mets and Houston Colts (now Astros) suffered 20 shutouts apiece during 1964.

Auliffe in the sixth inning and went into the seventh trailing 1-0. Then the White Sox struck for four runs.

Skowron's double, in between two walks issued by Dave Wick-ersham, loaded the bases. Smoky Burgess drove in two runs with a pinch-hit single before reliever Larry Sherry balked home one run and let in another with a wild pitch.

Pascual, bringing his record to 3-0, struck out eight and walked only one while Zoilo Versalles provided the power with four hits and four RBI. Versalles tripled home a run in the second, slapped a two-run single in the third and doubled home another in the seventh.

The Angels made it seven victories in nine games with rookie Paul Schaal hitting his fifth homer and Willie Smith slugging a double and two singles. Fred Newman got the victory for a 3-1 record with Bob Lee's ninth-inning relief help.

with seven, including a double by Terry Campbell. But the Tracers played errorless ball.

Justice, the Panther pitcher, walked two, fanned eight as he went the route.

For Circleville, Dave Iery started. He fanned four, walked six and was touched for eight hits before he gave way to Jeff Steele.

Steele, a freshman, finished the game. He walked one, fanned two and allowed five hits.

The Tigers started the scoring with a run in the bottom of the first inning. In the third, Miami Trace came up with three big runs, compared to one for the Tigers.

Trace scored in every other inning and capped the performance with a three-run seventh frame. The other run for the Tigers came in the sixth inning.

TOM CASSILL, Chet Iery and Campbell each had two hits for the Tigers.

The Tigers will host Wilmington Friday.

Jets Win Again On Belated Homer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Columbus Jets are proving that old baseball adage that the game's never over until the last out is made.

The Jets are beginning to make a habit of spotting foes extra-inning runs and then overcoming them on homers. They did it again Wednesday night, erasing a 3-1 Rochester lead in the bottom of the 11th, on Jack Damaska's three-run homer for a 4-3 victory.

In other International League games, league-leading Atlanta edged cellar-dwelling Buffalo twice, 5-4 and 4-3. Toronto smashed Jacksonville 9-1 and Syracuse split a doubleheader with Toledo, winning the first game 8-0 and losing the nightcap 6-3.

Brian Acton, sophomore half-back on the University of Arizona football squad comes from Montreal.

Westfall Nine Tripped by West Jeff, 6-3

Westfall High School was bumped from the Class A Central District baseball tournament yesterday when West Jefferson handed the visiting Mustangs a 6-3 defeat.

The Mustangs were the victims of their own errors. Five miscues figured heavy in the enemy scoring.

The winners had only two hits. Westfall tagged the ball nine times.

Delbert Hancey blasted a triple, a double and a single for the losers in four trips. He also scored two of the Westfall runs.

ALSO credited with doubles were Norman O'Conner, Lew Gantz and Ray Mowery.

Four of the West Jeff runs came in the first inning as both of their hits were in this frame.

Danny Bowen was the losing pitcher. He fanned three and walked two.

For West Jefferson, Nelson issued one base on balls and fanned nine players.

Westfall now has a 7-3 record. Tonight they travel to Miami Trace for a game.

Coach Satisfied With Joe Namath

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Joe Namath, the New York Jets' $400,000 bundle of football joy, was back at his old stomping grounds Wednesday to work out for Jets' Coach Weeb Ewbank, who came away well satisfied with what he saw.

"He has a strong enough arm," the coach said, "and that's all I really wanted to see."

Ewbank said what he wanted the former University of Alabama football star to study was calling signals, formations and other fundamentals of the New York Jets' operation in order to save time once season practice begins.

The team will start practice in mid-July with Namath scheduled to report July 12.

Asked about Namath's knee, Ewbank said, "It's coming along fine. It seems to be a matter of keeping him working on it."

Track Sale Is OK'd As Official Quits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Racing Commission has approved the transfer of racing dates for Cincinnati's River Downs track to a new corporation, clearing the way for the sale of the track within 48 hours. The sale price is reported to be $4.6 million.

The commission Wednesday approved giving the dates to the Queen City Turf Club, Inc., after Ralph H. Smith of Columbus resigned as vice president and general manager.

The commission indicated it was not satisfied with Smith, former president of Commonwealth Securities Co., because of his lack of knowledge of racing operations.

Coach's Widow Assures His Track Team of Trip

ENCINO, N.M. (AP) — Sam Tenorio is the only Encino High School athlete ever to win a blue ribbon in a prep track meet.

The ribbon and the courage of Edwina Ortega are memorials to 27-year-old Amado Ortega, who was killed in an auto accident near Encino April 15.

Tenorio, a junior, won the discus throw last Saturday in the Bean Valley Conference track and field meet at Albuquerque. Mrs. Ortega, a 25-year-old mother of two children—Deborah, 4, and Alfred, 3—is the widow of Ortega, who brought track and field to Encino High School three years ago.

She will take Tenorio to Albuquerque Saturday, at her own expense, to compete in the district track meet where she hopes he will qualify as Encino's first competitor in the state track meet May 14-15.

"Coach thought Sam might do pretty well," she said of her husband.

But she isn't coaching the team. "I'm sort of like a chaperone," she said.

Ortega was hired to coach this small central New Mexico ranching community's basketball team. The school, which had 58 students, never had a track team.

Ortega, who decided that the students needed a spring sport, scrounged for equipment. Some of it came from an Albuquerque high school 90 miles away.

Mrs. Ortega told how one student took a long stick and used it to practice pole vaulting. Tenorio pieced together a split javelin to practice.

Ortega had marked a gravel road in front of the school in measurements of 100 and 220 yards for dash practices. The 440 relay team ran on a dirt road around a bumpy empty lot across from the school.

At the Bean Valley meet, Tenorio threw the discus 118.9 to win the school's first track and field blue ribbon.

Although it's a little shy of the state meet qualifying distance of 125-0, the Class B record of 153-10 1/2 or the state mark of 174-6, that doesn't discourage Mrs. Ortega.

"I also put Tenorio in the javelin so he wouldn't have to go for only one event," Mrs. Ortega said. "He kept falling down all the time. Sam wasn't used to throwing on grass—we don't have much around here."

"I kept reminding them why they were there — to do their best. But they were a little out of shape. I had said we had to get a trophy to leave in his memory."

The 5-foot-1, 105-pound shape-ly fifth-grade teacher added, "I felt like he worked so hard to get them in shape and felt that what I wanted to do was to take them myself."

Terry Whiffs His Former Yank Mates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ralph Terry of the Cleveland Indians was so effective in his first start against his former New York Yankee teammates that he struck out one of them with a pitch he doesn't even throw.

Ralph Terry

Terry, the hero of the 1962 World Series dispatched to Cleveland in the Pedro Ramos trade last season, waited almost seven months for a shot at the Yankees and then spent only an hour and 40 minutes mowing them down on three hits for a 4-0 victory Wednesday night.

Strikeout victim Tom Tresh was one of the Yankees impressed with Terry's performance.

"He sure threw me one pitch I've never seen him use before," said Tresh. "He struck me out with a kind of screwball that came up to me and broke down and out."

"I don't throw a screwball," said Terry. "I throw fastballs, curves, and sliders."

Terry, who had a 7-11 record last year, admitted that he was "happy about winning that one but I wanted to make sure I didn't rub it in."

Nevertheless, it seemed like he did.

Terry pitched effortlessly, using only 70 pitches. He allowed only singles, did not walk a man and did not allow a runner past first base while bringing his record to 4-1 and reducing his earned-run average to an eye-popping 1.66.

The Chicago White Sox, meanwhile, received strong performances from John Buzhardt and Joe Horlen, each pitching a four-hitter in 4-0 and 4-1 triumphs over Detroit. Camilo Pascual checked Baltimore on six hits in Minnesota's 9-2 victory and the Los Angeles Angels downed Boston 6-4.

Washington and Kansas City were not scheduled.

In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Cincinnati 4-2, San Francisco outslugged St. Louis 10-5 in 10 innings, Milwaukee edged Houston 2-1 in 14 innings, Philadelphia nipped the New York Mets 1-0 and the Chicago Cubs whipped Pittsburgh 3-1.

The Indians had lost 10 straight to the Yankees in Cleveland, but quicker than you can say Whitey Ford they had given Terry more working room than he needed.

With two out in the first inning, Leon Wagner homered off Ford, Rocky Colavito singled, Max Alvis walked and Fred Whitfield homered. That eventually left Ford's record at 2-2.

Buzhardt, now 3-0, struck out 11 and allowed only one Tiger to reach third base in the opener while Bill Skowron and Ron Hansen supplied home run support. Skowron also doubled and scored another run while Hansen collected another run batted in with a sacrifice fly.

Horlen was tagged for an inside-the-park homer by Dick Mc-

Tigers Lose SCO Tilt to Panthers

Ted Lewis Park was the scene of a 10-3 South Central Ohio League defeat suffered yesterday by the Circleville Tigers at the hands of Miami Trace.

The visiting Panthers blasted 13 hits and took advantage of seven bases on balls and four Tiger errors as they handed the Tigers their fourth loss in loop play. Circleville has won two games in the league.

For Miami Trace it was the fifth league win against one loss. They are tied with Hillsboro for the SCO lead.

Shortstop Tom Townsend paced the hardhitting Trace attack, blasting a two-run homer and a pair of singles in three times at bat. He had six RBIs for the game.

THE HITTING of the Tigers was good enough in the game

CHS Golfers Win, Lose in Two Drills

The Circleville golf team was defeated by Pleasant View, 5-3 at the Beacon Lights Golf course yesterday and downed Teays Valley, 5-3, Tuesday at Upper Lansdowne Links.

At Pleasant View, Chuck Smith carded a 39 for the Tigers in the first spot. Richard Fuhrman had a 46, Tim Adams a 41 and Danny Speakman a 46. Adams eagled the par 5, 530-yard eighth hole at Beacon Lights when he chipped his third shot into the cup.

For the host school George Rhinehart and John Kidwell both scored 41.

At Upper Lansdowne, Smith and Fuhrman both scored 38, Adams 43, Billy Weldon 44, Speakman 49 and Brock Bell 52.

Ronnie Leatherwood had a 38 for Teays Valley. Miami Trace golfers will be at the Pickaway Country Club tonight. Marietta will be here Saturday for an 18-hole match.

The New York Mets and Houston Colts (now Astros) suffered 20 shutouts apiece during 1964.

Auliffe in the sixth inning and went into the seventh trailing 1-0. Then the White Sox struck for four runs.

Skowron's double, in between two walks issued by Dave Wick-ersham, loaded the bases. Smoky Burgess drove in two runs with a pinch-hit single before reliever Larry Sherry balked home one run and let in another with a wild pitch.

Pascual, bringing his record to 3-0, struck out eight and walked only one while Zoilo Versalles provided the power with four hits and four RBIs. Versalles tripled home a run in the second, slapped a two-run single in the third and doubled home another in the seventh.

The Angels made it seven victories in nine games with rookie Paul Schaal hitting his fifth homer and Willie Smith slugging a double and two singles. Fred Newman got the victory for a 3-1 record with Bob Lee's ninth-inning relief help.

Westfall Nine Tripped by West Jeff, 6-3

Westfall High School was bumped from the Class A Central District baseball tournament yesterday when West Jefferson handed the visiting Mustangs a 6-3 defeat.

The Mustangs were the victims of their own errors. Five miscues figured heavily in the enemy scoring.

The winners had only two hits. Westfall tagged the ball nine times.

Delbert Haney blasted a triple, a double and a single for the losers in four trips. He also scored two of the Westfall runs.

ALSO credited with doubles were Norman O'Conner, Lew Gantz and Ray Mowery.

Four of the West Jeff runs came in the first inning as both of their hits were in this frame. Danny Bowen was the losing pitcher. He fanned three and walked two.

For West Jefferson, Nelson issued one base on balls and fanned nine players.

Westfall now has a 7-3 record. Tonight they travel to Miami Trace for a game.

Coach Satisfied With Joe Namath

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Joe Namath, the New York Jets' $400,000 bundle of football joy, was back at his old stomping grounds Wednesday to work out for Jets' Coach Weeb Ewbank, who came away well satisfied with what he saw.

"He has a strong enough arm," the coach said, "and that's all I really wanted to see."

Ewbank said what he wanted the former University of Alabama football star to study was calling signals, formations and other fundamentals of the New York Jets' operation in order to save time once season practice begins.

The team will start practice in mid-July with Namath scheduled to report July 12.

Asked about Namath's knee, Ewbank said, "It's coming along fine. It seems to be a matter of keeping him working on it."

Track Sale Is OK'd As Official Quits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Racing Commission has approved the transfer of racing dates for Cincinnati's River Downs track to a new corporation, clearing the way for the sale of the track within 48 hours. The sale price is reported to be $4.6 million.

The commission Wednesday approved giving the dates to the Queen City Turf Club, Inc., after Ralph H. Smith of Columbus resigned as vice president and general manager.

The commission indicated it was not satisfied with Smith, former president of Commonwealth Securities Co., because of his lack of knowledge of racing operations.

Coach's Widow Assures His Track Team of Trip

ENCINO, N.M. (AP) — Sam Tenorio is the only Encino High School athlete ever to win a blue ribbon in a prep track meet.

The ribbon and the courage of Edwina Ortega are memorials to 27-year-old Amado Ortega, who was killed in an auto accident near Encino April 15.

Tenorio, a junior, won the discus throw last Saturday in the Bean Valley Conference track and field meet at Albuquerque.

Mrs. Ortega, a 25-year-old mother of two children—Deborah, 4, and Alfred, 3—is the widow of Ortega, who brought track and field to Encino High School three years ago.

She will take Tenorio to Albuquerque Saturday, at her own expense, to compete in the district track meet where she hopes he will qualify as Encino's first competitor in the state track meet May 14-15.

"Coach thought Sam might do pretty well," she said of her husband.

But she isn't coaching the team. "I'm sort of like a chaperone," she said.

Ortega was hired to coach this small central New Mexico ranching community's basketball team. The school, which had 58 students, never had a track team.

Ortega, who decided that the students needed a spring sport, scrounged for equipment. Some of it came from an Albuquerque high school 90 miles away.

Mrs. Ortega told how one student took a long stick and used it to practice pole vaulting. Tenorio pieced together a split javelin to practice.

Ortega had marked a gravel road in front of the school in measurements of 100 and 220 yards for dash practices. The 440 relay team ran on a dirt road around a bumpy empty lot across from the school.

At the Bean Valley meet, Tenorio threw the discus 118-9 to win the school's first track and field blue ribbon.

Although it's a little shy of the state meet qualifying distance of 125-0, the Class B record of 153-10½ or the state mark of 174-6, that doesn't discourage Mrs. Ortega.

"I also put Tenorio in the javelin so he wouldn't have to go for only one event," Mrs. Ortega said. "He kept falling down all the time. Sam wasn't used to throwing on grass—we don't have much around here."

"I kept reminding them why they were there — to do their best. But they were a little out of shape. I had said we had to get a trophy to leave in his memory."

The 5-foot-1, 105-pound shapely fifth-grade teacher added, "I felt like he worked so hard to get them in shape and felt that what I wanted to do was to take them myself."

Those Feminine Anglers Stealing Male Thunder

By KEN MCCREARY
For THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Just when we men think we're going along as smoothly as a canoe on our favorite lake on a windless evening, somebody has to come along and mess things up.

It's getting so that anymore you can't even call a fisherman a fisherman. That's enough to really get under a man's skin when he's lazing along in the spring sun, waiting patiently for a fish (any fish) to grab his bait. Especially when one of those rapidly expanding new breed — the "fisherwoman" — starts hauling in the fish like she's been doing it all her life.

It's that darned bunch of female who went out to the water and messed us up. You can't call women "fishermen" and be right — let's face it, from any angler's angle, they're not men.

But on the other hand, when one of them hauls in three nice fish for ever one you manage to put on the stringer, you can't honestly look in the mirror and call yourself a fisherman either.

Now that there are well over 30 million Americans who like to fish, the problem is getting much worse. In fact, here in Ohio this year almost 100,000 fisher-gals will be invading our territory.

Would you believe that there are women around who can cast more accurately and even further than some men? Not better than you or me, mind you, but they do beat the likes of some of those fancy male tournament casters.

Just as a good "for instance", there's this girl down in Florida. Her name is Joan Salvato

Cummings. She has a roomful of trophies and medals that even Jack Nicklaus would have to respect; she works the same magic with a fishing rod that Jack does with a golf club.

As a matter of fact, in 1959 Joan won America's professional wet fly accuracy championship and the 5-ounce unrestricted distance baitcasting championship — over both men and women pros. In 1959 (and almost any men you talk with can verify that the tap measure has been wrong) she averaged 126.6 feet in the National Distance Flycasting Championship, and won — and over men.

But to really take your cork under, here comes the worst part. That Cummings gal also manages to go out and bring home plenty of fish — and not from the market either.

She lands tarpon on delicate nine-foot hollow fiber glass fly-rods — she catches monster-sized trout on light - action spinning gear.

In fact, Joan has done so well that a leading tackle maker has put her on the payroll so giving demonstrations and lessons (to men).

They say that at sportsmen's shows she uses two flyrods at once — while dressed in an evening gown — and makes perfect on-target casts.

Family fishing is fine in Ohio. But there's still plenty of room for the old all-male fishing trip, too. A guy's got to get even with his fishing wife some way and she can't catch 'em if she doesn't go with you.

Sandy Koufax won 12 of 14 decisions in Los Angeles last season. His earned run record in Dodger Stadium was 0.85.

Blue Firm To Quit after 33 Years

The Blue Furniture Co., 167 W. Main St., will terminate its operation in Circleville after 33 years on the local business scene.

Chester A. Blue, owner, said the decision to quit the business was prompted by health and other business interests. He extended appreciation to the community for its patronage during his long tenure here.

Blue said all furniture at the W. Main St. location must be sold. A special close-out sale will start at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Both new and used merchandise will be offered during the sale.

Bible College Slates Talk On Viet Nam

The Rev. Richard Pendell, missionary on furlough from South Viet Nam, will present an address during chapel service at 9:10 a. m. tomorrow at the Circleville Bible College.

Mr. and Mrs. Pendell returned from South Viet Nam last summer. They will leave Columbus May 28 for their return to that country, following the general convention of the Christian and Missionary Alliance in Minneapolis, Minn.

Rev. Pendell's father-in-law is an employee of Camera Co. in Columbus. He is quite active in church work in that city.

Persons desiring first hand information concerning Southeast Asia and especially South Viet Nam, are invited to take advantage of Rev. Pendell's talk. The college welcomes visitors and is happy to be of service to the community, spokesmen said.

Kids Accused In Theft of $8000 Cache

CLEVELAND (AP)—An elderly widower is out $8,000 police say was taken from his home and spent by a group of teen-agers.

Police said the money was spent on automobiles and jewelry for the youngsters and their friends, and on home furnishings for the parents of a 14-year-old girl and her 17-year-old brother.

The widower, 74-year-old William H. Leonard, told police he discovered all his money was gone Wednesday when he opened the box it was kept in. He said the money had been for stock purchases and he wanted to invest $2,000 Wednesday.

Authorities said delinquent grand larceny charges were being considered and charges possibly might be lodged against the parents.

Leonard, a retired ironworker, told detectives the youths had free run of his home. He said three of them were girls he met last February when he was seeking house cleaning help. Police said the girls took the money and distributed it to the others.

One boy purchased a 1963 car for himself and a used auto for a friend with the money he got, police said.

Another boy explained his sudden wealth by saying he had a job delivering packages, and the girls said they earned their babysitting, police added.

Hitler Scored Military Successes In Early Days of His Nazi Regime

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following, third of four articles on the rise and fall of Nazi Germany 20 years ago, tells of Hitler's early military success.

By JOHN BAUSMAN
BERLIN (AP) — Adolf Hitler had scored a diplomatic victory at Munich in 1938. It paved the way for his occupation of all of Czechoslovakia in March of 1939.

And eight days later, in a little-remembered land grab, he annexed a small chunk of Lithuania to German East Prussia.

These were his last peacetime conquests. The next victim was to be Poland and this step launched the grim six-year war that ended just 20 years ago in the collapse of Hitlerite Germany.

But Hitler, rising with heavy speed to the peak of his power, foresaw no disaster for the expanding thousand-year Reich. He could allow himself to mock the British, French and Americans and the appeals for caution and peace which were addressed to him.

He advised his chief lieutenants that the next step would bring war and busied himself through the summer with plans to invade Poland.

The Nazi target for the Polish invasion was the end of summer, but not until Aug. 23 did Hitler finally achieve the device that was to spare him for a time a two-front war — the German Soviet pact.

Playing on Soviet distrust of England and France, Hitler got Joseph Stalin to agree to a 10-year treaty to split up Poland and divide interests in Eastern Europe. The pact was destined to be broken by the German leader in less than two years.

In the final days of peace, Britain and France, both obligated by treaty to come to the aid of Poland, negotiated feverishly to halt the drift toward war.

To trigger the war on Sept. 1, Hitler had his trusted bodyguard organization, the SS, stage a fake Polish attack against the German radio station at Gleiwitz. Later that morning he solemnly told the Reichstag that the Poles had fired on German territory and the Germans were returning the fire.

Poised German forces rolled in strength across the Polish frontier. War had started. It quickly spread and became World War II with the entry of Britain and France on Sept. 3.

The Germans speedily overran Poland.

It was the first taste of the Nazi blitzkrieg, the meticulously planned and carefully coordinated strikes of air power and tanks that cut with spear-like thrusts.

With Poland defeated, the war settled down to an eerie, unreal standstill. The German dictator had rightly guessed that Britain and France would cause little trouble in the West.

For his eventual war against the Soviet Union and the sea battle against England, Hitler needed to secure his Scandinavian flank and decided that Denmark and Norway should be taken before the major engagement in the West.

Early in the morning of April 9, 1940, with German troops already embarked, Hitler's obedient foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, had his envoys in Copenhagen and Oslo present brazen demands that these governments accept immediately "the protection of the Reich."

The Danes, unable to put up armed resistance against their giant neighbor, yielded.

The Norwegians held out and with British and French support fought the Nazis off in the north. The Nazi attack against France in the meantime, forced the Allies to withdraw their help and the Norwegians surrendered on June 12. Hitler had chalked up another "glorious" victory.

By now his war in the West was virtually won and was following the most optimistic blitzkrieg timetable. Holland and Belgium were the first victims.

France was totally unprepared to meet the wily strategy of the blitzkrieg. Her troops, strung out in the defensive Maginot Line, were encircled. Her bickering politicians were divided. On June 14, Germans flushed with victory entered Paris and on June 22 the armistice with France was signed.

Behind the dazzling front of victories, however, the Nazis already were busy with cruel and heartless work.

On June 14, the day the Germans entered Paris, the Nazis officially opened at Auschwitz in southern Poland a new concentration camp, destined to become the monstrous death factory where millions of human beings were slaughtered.

Occupied Europe was experiencing the pain of living under the Nazi "new order."

Next: The downfall.

Blue Firm To Quit after 33 Years

The Blue Furniture Co., 167 W. Main St., will terminate its operation in Circleville after 33 years on the local business scene.

Chester A. Blue, owner, said the decision to quit the business was prompted by health and other business interests. He extended appreciation to the community for its patronage during his long tenure here.

Blue said all furniture at the W. Main St. location must be sold. A special close - out sale will start at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Both new and used merchandise will be offered during the sale.

Bible College Slates Talk On Viet Nam

The Rev. Richard Pendell, missionary on furlough from South Viet Nam, will present an address during chapel service at 9:10 a. m. tomorrow at the Circleville Bible College.

Mr. and Mrs. Pendell returned from South Viet Nam last summer. They will leave Columbus May 28 for their return to that country, following the general convention of the Christian and Missionary Alliance in Minneapolis, Minn.

Rev. Pendell's father-in-law is an employee of Camera Co. in Columbus. He is quite active in church work in that city.

Persons desiring first hand information concerning South-east Asia and especially South Viet Nam, are invited to take advantage of Rev. Pendell's talk. The college welcomes visitors and is happy to be of service to the community, spokesmen said.

Kids Accused In Theft of $8000 Cache

CLEVELAND (AP)—An elderly widower is out $8,000 police say was taken from his home and spent by a group of teenagers.

Police said the money was spent on automobiles and jewelry for the youngsters and their friends, and on home furnishings for the parents of a 14-year-old girl and her 17-year-old brother.

The widower, 74-year-old William H. Leonard, told police he discovered all his money was gone Wednesday when he opened the box it was kept in. He said the money had been for stock purchases and he wanted to invest $2,000 Wednesday.

Authorities said delinquent grand larceny charges were being considered and charges possibly might be lodged against the parents.

Leonard, a retired ironworker, told detectives the youths had free run of his home. He said three of them were girls he met last February when he was seeking house cleaning help. Police said the girls took the money and distributed it to the others.

One boy purchased a 1963 car for himself and a used auto for a friend with the money he got, police said.

Another boy explained his sudden wealth by saying he had a job delivering packages, and the girls said they earned their babysitting, police added.
